ULSTER SOCIETY ANNUAL MEETING

Held in New York Saturday—Officers Re-elected—Vote $250 to Home For the Aged—Annual Banquet at Biltmore January 15.

Nearly one hundred resident members of The Ulster County Society in the city of New York attended the annual meeting of the society which was held Saturday afternoon at Stewart's restaurant, Park Place, New York.

This year's annual meeting introduced an innovation as to the time and place of meeting, the meetings in former years having been held in the evening at one of the large uptown hotels. The large attendance this year, and the lively interest manifested by the members, indicated that members of the society residing in the Metropolitan district are no less enthusiastic in their support of the old county of their boyhood, with its many pleasant associations and recollections, and the friendships of many years' standing, than are the members who live within the bounds of Ulster.

Officers Re-elected.

The annual business session of the society was preceded by luncheon, at the close of which President Arthur McCausland called the gathering to order. Secretary Joseph Drake submitted his annual report, which was approved and he also gave an interesting account of the Neighbors and Friends banquet held in this city last week under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, which he attended and addressed as a representative of The Ulster County Society. Treasurer Holley R. Cantine reported a balance on hand of nearly $300.

Officers for the ensuing year were unanimously re-elected as follows:

Hon. Edmund W. Wakelee, honorary president; Arthur McCausland, president; Leon Forst, vice-president; Roswell Randell Hoes, historian; Holley R. Cantine, treasurer; Joseph Drake, secretary.

Advisory Council—Hon. Alton B. Parker, Edgar F. Luckenbach, Martin Cantine, Frederick C. Peters, J. Ward Follette.

Honorary Vice Presidents—Sam Bernstein, George Burgevin, Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., Major George F. Chandler, Hon. A. T. Clearwater, Aaron Cohen, Thomas J. Comerford, Edward Corkendall, Hon. W. D. Cunningham, U. S. Grant Cure, C. V. A. Decker, George Deyo, Philip Elting, Major James H. Everett, Harry H. Flemming, Captain Everett Fowler, Bruyn Hasbrouck, Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Fred B. Hibbard, Cornelius Hume, Hon. James Jenkins, Horace Greeley Kimble, County Clerk C. K. Loughran, Harcourt J. Pratt, County Treasurer Philip Schantz, John A. Snyder, Senator Charles W. Walton, Hon. George Washburn.

Gift to Home for Aged.

Among the matters taken up for discussion was that of a society gift to the Home for the Aged in this city and it was unanimously voted to contribute the sum of $250 to the Home, payable in five annual installments of $50 per year.

William Winter, of the banquet committee, reported arrangements were being perfected for the annual banquet of the society, which will take place at the Biltmore on Thursday evening, January 15. The guest of honor will be Major General Henry G. Sharpe, U. S. A., commander of the Southern department. Hon. Thomas W. Lamont, a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company, will be present as the guest of Martin Cantine of Saugerties. The speakers will be Hon. J. Newton Fiero, Dean of the Albany Law School; Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck of this city, Howard Chipp of this city, Frederick E. W. Darrow of Saugerties, and Captain William J. Coogan, of Brooklyn, who served with the 27th Division in France as a member of the 107th Regiment. There is every indication that the forthcoming annual banquet will be the most largely attended of any held by the society since its organization.

UPTOWN WON.

At Volley Ball From Rondout Team.

Saturday night, the business men had an exciting time in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The uptown squad, under the leadership of Harry Dodge, walloped the Rondout squad, led by Chester Baltz, winning four out of seven games of volley ball. This is the second time that the uptown men have thrust defeat upon the crew from the foot of the hill.

The playing of Lewis and Powell for the uptown team and that of Kline for the Rondout team were the decided features of the games.

The games were very interesting and exciting to the spectators.

The teams were:

Uptown—Capt Harry Dodge, 1; C. W. Lewis, 2; Jim Scott, 3; C. E. Powell, 4; Clarence Harris, 5.

Rondout—Captain Chester Baltz, 1; Frank Thompson, 2; Charles McEnton, 3; Guy Cochrane, 4; Jesse Kline, 5.

Another series of games will be played next week.

"Dave" Brown's Loss.

If any one finds a signet ring bearing the initials D. G. B. it is the property of Motorman David G. Brown of the Kingston city division of the trolley road. "Dave" missed his ring Monday while on duty and as he has worn it for some time feels lost without the familiar feel of the ring on his finger.

MEMORIAL TO PVT. NAEGELE

Large Attendance at German Lutheran Church to do Honor to Well-Liked Young Man Killed in Action—Pastor Schmidtkonz's Address.

The memorial service which was held Sunday evening in the Spring Street German Lutheran Church in honor of Private William H. Naegele, who died in action September 29, 1918, was very largely attended by the members of the church and many friends of the bereaved family. The employes of Valentin Burgevin, Inc., in whose green house the deceased had been employed, also attended the service. A guard of honor of the following soldiers was in attendance: George Schantz, Albert Salzmann, Fred Dittus, William Marks, Fred Marks, Paul Thiel, Christian Mellert, Harry Paulus, Richard Schantz, Carl Koeppen, all boys of the congregation. The altar was beautifully adorned with flowers, among them a large bouquet of chrysanthemums from Valentin Burgevin, Inc. A beautiful wreath of magnolia leaves and white carnations, a token from the Sunday school and the Young People's Society was placed most prominently in the center of the altar. The entire service was most impressive and the large audience was deeply moved by the solemnity of the occasion. Appropriate music was ably rendered by the large choir conducted by Prof. Jacob Stumpf. At the close of the service the taps were softly sounded by the bugler, Leon Giles. The Rev. A. Schmidtkonz delivered the following memorial address:

When the story of the great world war is written, history will fairly groan underneath its crushing and ghastly records. This war has brought more to the grave than has any previous war. Nearly ten million men were slain in battle. Millions were injured. Thousands were made blind or insane.

For more than four years the war swept furiously through the continent of Europe and blazed in many parts of Africa and Asia. Thirty nations were involevd. No country on earth escaped the losses and terrors of this war. Millions of non-combatants were slain or suffered death by starvation and disease.

When the horror was at its height America plunged into the hottest furnace of the war and put a sudden stop to the terrible slaughter. But at what a cost? Thousands of our brave boys were killed in battle and are lying under the troubled soil of France and Flanders. Thousands are in our hospitals either seriously wounded or the victims of diseases contracted while fighting for their country. We feel the loss which we have suffered with bitter keenness. Our total loss is 293,089 men. Our hearts go out in loving sympathy to those who mourn the loss of their nearest and dearest who have made the supreme sacrifice, and could we speak to them, we would tell them of the fidelity and courage of their loved ones, and assure them of our undying regard for their memory. We would tell them —we shall meet again. Our dead heroes are not gone forever, not lost, for

"Where immortal spirits reign
There shall we all meet again."

On an occasion like this when we are gathered to do honor to a soldier who died on the battlefield it is well to remember at what a sacrifice our present state as a republic has been purchased. In fact from the war of the Revolution to this last war, the path of our history goes over the graves of many heroes and I am proud to say that among these were thousands of citizens of German birth or descent. In peace as well as in war the German-Americans have aided in the development of our national greatness. In peace and war they furnished constant examples of true patriotism and gave the best they could.

This war has required a staggering sacrifice of life and property. And what are the results? The coming years must demonstrate whether of not it was worth the cost. If a fearing world—emerges out of the ashes of the old world it will be worth the cost. But if the old rivalries and jealousies and hatreds continue among the nations, it will not be worth a single human life nor a single dollar.

We can understand the full meaning of the sacrifice of those heroic men who died nobly in war. They made this supreme sacrifice for the good and welfare of mankind, and I love to believe that no heroic sacrifice is ever lost. The precious grain that has been sown through millions of lives on the fields of battle must bring precious fruitage. A new era must be born out of the travail of this world war, and that era must be a Christian era in reality and not alone in name. The gospel of Christ —the gospel of love and sacrifice in a world of selfishness—the gospel of hope in a world of despair—the gospel of assurance in a world of uncertainty—the gospel of comfort in a world of bereavement—the gospel of life in a world of death must become a living power to make this world a better and more peaceful world.

Our brave boys who died on the battlefields or in the training camps are due to all honor. It is fitting and a high obligation to pay to them the full measure of pride and thankfulness, for they did great things for us. It is written in the book that no man hath greater love than this—that he give his life for another. This is the noblest human act. Our dead soldiers did that very thing, and are entitled to be long remembered—to live in the memory of a grateful nation.

But while this is true, let us not forget that we also owe the same debt to our living heroes, who have served their country in the Army and Navy and of whom many passed through the scene of battle. They all answered the call of the nation and went to the camps and battlefields, on the same errand, and they all offered the same price—the great price of their lives. The dead and the living soldiers both are worthy of the high gratitude of the nation.

It is our privilege to assemble here in honor of a brave soldier who fell in action and whose grave is among the many graves of our American heroes in France and Flanders. We cannot adorn his grave with flowers and the Old Glory under which he served and died, but we are met this evening to pay a fitting tribute to his memory, and to express our deepest sympathy to his bereaved parents, brothers and sisters and to all who mourn his death.

On such an occasion like this chords of anguish and deep pain vibrate in our hearts, but while there is a feeling of sadness there is a feeling of pride in our brave boys whose life and death tell the world the story of how an American will fight, and if necessary die for what he believes to be right.

"Sleep, heroes sleep;
Your deeds will never die."

William H. Naegele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Naegele, was born February 26, 1893 and was baptized and confirmed in our church. He was an industrious and reliable young man and was in the employ of Valentin Burgevin, Inc. He left home April 20, 1918 for Camp Dix and went overseas in July. He was a member of Company C, 147th Infantry. The last letter from him stating that he was on the front was received by his parents September 15, 1918. In November he was reported as missing in action, and later as having died of wounds, but there was some uncertainty until last July when a telegram from the War Department reached his parents stating that he was killed in battle September 29, 1918. This is the second son of these sadly stricken parents whose life has been laid down for our country, his brother, Jakob Naegele, having died at Camp McClellan, January 26, 1919. For the loss that has befallen them in the death of two beloved sons, may they find comfort and consolation in the thought that their sons died as Christian soldiers in the service of their country and therefore leave an honored memory behind them.

Of the 43 men that went forth from our congregation five have made the supreme sacrifice and our service flag has five golden stars in their memory. They marched, they fought and bravely died and victory is theirs forever. We hope to meet them again in the land of peace.

There is a home of sweet repose,
Where storms assail no more;
The stream of endless pleasure flows,
On that celestial shore.

Amen.

STATE INCOME TAX OFFICE ON B'WAY

The state income tax office for this district, comprising Ulster, Orange and Greene counties, will be located in the building recently purchased by the Kingston Trust Company, at the corner of Broadway and Dederick street. The offices will be on the second floor, the work of fitting up the several rooms for the use of District Director J. DePuy Hasbrouck and his corps of auditors and assistants, ten in number, is now going on. The offices will be large, with plenty of light, and the location being about midway of both ends of the city and in close proximity of the West Shore, Wallkill Valley and U. & D. Railroad station, will make it easy of access to the people who desire information and handy to go to pay the income tax.

St. Mark's Seeks Funds.

St. Mark's A. M. E. Church is nearing 71 years old and the congregation is putting forth every effort to raise funds for remodelling this old Christian landmark. The pastor and members appeal to the public for help. Subscription books are in the hands of the church members and subscriptions may also be sent to the pastor, the Rev. A. L. Hughes, or any of the trustees, Norman West, W. L. Van Gaasbeck, C. Anderson, Levi Meyers or Rolay Matthews, treasurer.

Want Good Basketballers.

The Utica team of the New York State Basketball League is hunting high and low for two players. They want a center and a guard. If any one here in Kingston thinks himself fast enough to play in this company he may write Fay Inman, mayor's office, Utica, N. Y.

Rosendale Entertainment.

A chicken supper, motion picture show, entertainment and dance will be held in St. Peter's Hall, Rosendale, on Thanksgiving eve, November 26. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the parish. The supper will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock; movies from 8 to 10 and dancing from 10 to 12.

Team Wants Games.

The Cataract basketball team of Poughkeepsie would like to arrange games with any teams in Kingston averaging 135 pounds. Address, Albert Tillore, Manager Cataract B. B. C., care of Cataract Steamer Co. No. 4.

Save These Lives!

TUBERCULOSIS kills 150,000 active men and women in the United States every year—last year, this year.

There is no necessity for this staggering casualty list in peace times.

You may not know it but Tuberculosis can be PREVENTED and can be cured.

There is an organization in your state and community that can drive this menace from its place at your very door.

Encourage it—help to finance it.

This is paid for by S. Cohen's Sons who joined the Limit Club.

TRAVELERS ARE GREAT BOOSTERS

One of the growing organizations of this city that is becoming widely known and is carrying the fame of the home town with it is Kingston Council, No. 356, United Commercial Travelers of America, the membership of which is growing rapidly. At present there are 23 applicants awaiting initiation. Regular meetings of the council are held in Pythian Hall, corner of Wall and John streets, on the evening of the fourth Friday in each month.

The degree team of Kingston Council has attained such a reputation that its services are in great demand in other cities. It has already visited Poughkeepsie and Newburgh and is scheduled to initiate a class of 30 in Middletown on December 12. In January it will visit Albany and later will go to Troy. As the council members carry the fame of Kingston wherever they go and are great boosters for the home town, their activities are of great benefit to the city.

J. R. B. Smith Lodge, No. 4,437, Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, 103 Cornell street.

Franklin Lodge, No. 37, Knights of Pythias, John, corner Wall street.

The Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, will hold its regular monthly meeting in the K. of C. Hall this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The regular Conclave of Rondout Commandery, No. 52, K. T., will be held Wednesday evening, November 26th at 7 o'clock. The orders of the Red Cross, Malta and Knights Templar will be conferred. Refreshments as usual.

A memorial meeting was held in New York city Sunday night to pay tribute to the thousand members of the Knights of Pythias of that city, who were in the service. Several supreme and grand officers delivered memorial addresses in behalf of those who gave their lives and paid a tribute to the boys who returned by presenting them with beautiful certificates. Among the speakers was Mayor Canfield, the grand vice chancellor.

An honor and memorial meeting to the men of Franklin Lodge, No. 37, Knights of Pythias, who rendered service during the late war will be given to them by the lodge at its rooms, Pythian Hall, tonight. At the session of the lodge, the Rev. G. F. Snyder will deliver a memorial address and tribute to the service of William Dann, a member of the lodge, who gave his life in France and Dr. George Clark.

ANOTHER SUGAR SHORTAGE DUE

While Kingston has experienced a sugar shortage all year there is every indication that there will be a still further curtailment of the limited supply that has been received during the past months, and that the Christmas dinner will have to be cooked and eaten without as much sugar as in former years.

The supply of sugar received lately by the wholesale dealers has been from 300 to 400 barrels a week. The head of one of the large wholesale houses stated this morning that Kingston would be lucky if 300 barrels of sugar were received within the next five weeks.

If this proves true housewives who have been skimping all summer and fall in order to have enough sugar for cooking and table purposes will have to devise still more elaborate plans so that they may have enough sugar on the table for the coffee.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD MET.

Officers For Ensuing Year Are Elected—Mrs. Brink Reads Paper.

On Thursday afternoon of last week, the Needlework Guild held its annual meeting at the chapel of the First Dutch Church, there being a large attendance of members. During the afternoon, Mrs. Brink read a very interesting and informing paper from Mrs. Newberry, chairman of the National Needlework Guild. It was voted to give two dozen towels to the Home for the Aged.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. L. W. Weed; first vice-president, Mrs. James Brink; second vice-president, Mrs. J. S. Hill, third vice-president, Mrs. J. V. Perry; fourth vice-president, Mrs. Solomon Crispell; secretary, Mrs. E. L. Merritt; treasurer, Mrs. D. B. Hendricks.

Four hundred and eleven garments and some money were received, many of the garments being given out during the afternoon. Miss Davis, county agent for Dependent Children secured clothing for six children. There are still a number of garments left and they may be secured from Mrs. Barnum, at her home, 180 Albany avenue.

September, 1918. Certificates of honor of the Knights of Pythias will be bestowed upon the members who were in the service and returned, by County Judge George Addington of Albany, who is grand chancellor. Afterwards a banquet will be served at which Morris A. Drucker, grand prelate of New York city, Charles W. Endel, past grand chancellor of New York city and other Pythian notables will be present and deliver addresses. The welcome address will be delivered by Mayor Canfield, grand vice chancellor. In the service flag which will be demobilized, there are eight stars representing the following members who were in service besides William Dann: Silas T. Beatty, Francis P. Elston, Henry Feklin, William Stork, George Kauffman, George Wilson and Dr. George Clark.

CONCERT MOST POPULAR YET

Experiment Of Community Singing With Symphony Orchestra Went Well—Clearwater Sang Oratorio Number.

The second of the Popular Symphony Concerts given on Sunday afternoon at the Keeney theatre, proved to be a great success from every viewpoint. While the large auditorium was not completely filled, it was a large audience, fully a third larger than for the first concert, and judging from the enthusiasm of the audience it will be an even greater number of people who will attend the third concert to be given on December 28th.

The program itself was particularly pleasing, opening with the brilliant and tuneful overture, "The Light Cavalry" by Suppe, played admirably by the orchestra.

It is a long time since a Kingston audience has been privileged to enjoy an oratorio number with orchestral accompaniment, and Harry Clearwater's full, rich baritone voice was admirably suited to the beautiful recitative and aria, "Thus Saith the Lord," from Handel's "Messiah." To musicians the number was a real treat, while to those unaccustomed to the oratorio style of music it gave them a new viewpoint and something to wonder and think about, especially regarding the rest of the oratorio. And questioning is always the beginning of education. Then Mr. Clearwater sang "In Flanders Fields," as arranged for orchestral setting by Roche, a most beautiful, suggestive and inspiring composition with orchestration that was very realistic.

Then came two delightful orchestral numbers, that rhythmic, richly colored "Orientale" by Loubomirsky, with its fascinating and unusual intervals and tonal effects. The second of this group was a graceful, restful, "Morceau" by Jackson, beautifully played by the orchestra.

Mr. Clearwater once more delighted the audience with a group of two short numbers, the dashing, "Gypsy Jan," by Herbert, and "Jean," tender and appealing, by Burleigh. Both numbers were enthusiastically applauded.

Then came the experiment of the afternoon, the "Community Chorus" numbers with Harry P. Dodge to lead the singers. Mr. Dodge very briefly explained the idea of a community chorus, the word community meaning "getting together," and said that it meant that young and old, rich and poor, black and white, happy and sad, and above all, those who could sing and those who thought they could not sing, were to join in singing songs dear to all. He asked that every one present join in singing "Old Folks at Home," there being printed slips with the words of the songs handed out with the programs. For some strange reason, the audiences seem, at these concerts to like to sit toward the back of the auditorium, so that what empty seats there were, were in front, and it did look as though Mr. Dodge had a task before him to get a good song out of the audience so far, at the farthest from him. But everybody had the surprise of their lives, for no better community singing has ever been heard in this city than that at the Popular Symphony Concert yesterday. After they sang the first number, apparently everybdy joined in singing, "Love's Old Sweet Song," and then they hummed the final chorus most effectively. By that time Mr. Dodge was all smiles, and the audience applauded Mr. Dodge, smiling, and Mr. Dodge in turn applauded the audience and all were then ready to sing the final number—all there was time for if the concert closed on time. So every one enjoyed singing that beautiful old carol, "Silent Night," and there was more applause, likewise it is safe to predict that hereafter no popular symphony orchestral concert will be complete without a few community chorus numbers on the program. A note at the bottom of the slip containing the words of the songs said, "The Kingston Symphony Society heartily approves of Community chorus singing and as an evidence of its approval introduces it at this concert, under the leadership of Harry P. Dodge, who has sponsored Community Sings in Kingston. We trust our action will meet with the sanction of our friends, and that all will sing these songs with spirit and enthusiasm." (Signed) Leo F. Herbert.

The program closed with that splendid piece of martial music, Sousa's "We're Coming," played thrillingly by the orchestra.

In the closing paragraph of "A Word of Greeting," by Leo F. Herbert, executive manager of the society, Mr. Herbert said: "We desire, at this time to call attention to the two Symphony Concerts which the society is planning to render on January 26 and April 19, 1920, and respectfully ask for the good will and the material and moral support of the patrons of these popular concerts to the end that the larger and more pretentious concerts may measure up to the best standards of the Kingston Symphony Society. We promise that these Symphony Concerts will be a credit to the city of Kingston and a credit to the musicians who participate in them."

STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY OPPOSES HEALTH INSURANCE

The House of Delegates of the New York State Medical Society has adopted the report of a special committee on compulsory health insurance which opposes the Donohue-Davenport bill. Seventeen members of the committee signed the report and two members refused to sign. This action is a victory for the movement in opposition that was inaugurated in Ulster county and spread all over the state, bringing the health insurance machine ring to its senses, so far as the State Medical Society is concerned. Before this campaign was begun it was generally understood that only three members of the committee, one of whom was Dr. Luther Emerick of Saugerties, were opposed to compulsory health insurance. The committee finds:

First: There is no necessity for the institution of a scheme covering the major portion of the population of the state providing for the institution of contract medical practice on a colossal scale in order to furnish medical attendance and other services.

Second: In those countries where this scheme has been in operation for many years, it has caused a deterioration in medical morale and medical service and that its effect in this state would be the same, that is, a lessening in the quality of medical service.

Third: In comparison with those countries where this scheme has been in operation the United States shows a more marked reduction in mortality rate, both general and as affecting maternal and infantile mortality rate. Apparently the morbidity rate under the scheme has doubled instead of being diminished in Germany and Austria since the institution of the social insurance plan.

Fourth: There is danger of the scheme gradually undermining the functions so extremely valuable to the community at present subserved by the State Department of Health.

Fifth: Owing to the paucity of accurate and unimpeachable data collected by means of an unbiased investigation, your committee recommends that the Legislature of 1920 be requested to appropriate a sufficient sum of money for the use of the Health Department, and such other departments in association with it, as it requires, for the purpose of making a survey of the State of New York to determine the amount and character of illness in its economical relation to the commonwealth.

Sixth: If additional legislation is to be enacted, it should provide for a greater development of existing agencies for preventive medicine, together with the extension on a large scale of the present county and municipal functions for both preventive and remedial medicine, and it should make further provision for the inauguration of more widely extended utilization of the present institutional clinical facilities for the diagnosis and treatment of disease, in order to facilitate the access of the entire population of the State to modern methods in the practice of medicine.

The committee, therefore, recommends that the House of Delegates, and, through them, the Medical Society of the State of New York, unqualifiedly oppose the enactment by the Legislature of the State of New York of any law instituting a system of compulsory insurance against sickness because of its menace to the public health of the state.

BAD STORM IN THE MOUNTAINS

Reports from Greene county and sections of Ulster county state that there was a severe snow storm with a blizzard fierceness there on Sunday afternoon. The wind was strong and the snowfall was heavy in Westkill, Spruceton and the Notch, over three inches of the snow falling followed by hailstones and rain. Through that section the ground was covered with the snow for miles around. Automobilists report having a hard time traveling, their windshields being caked with frozen snow. In the town of Hardenbergh there was also a heavy snow storm. Sheriff Smith, who was at George Gould's Furlough Lodge, telephoned to the sheriff's office Sunday evening that he was unable to come home as the snow was so deep he did not want to take a chance running his automobile over the roads in that section. There was a snow squall followed by hail and rain in this city Sunday afternoon after 2 o'clock.

PIONEERS OF RHINECLIFF STATION ARE RETIRED

A. W. UNDERHILL. H. H. PEARSON

Two honored veterans of the railroad service at Rhinecliff, N. Y., have been lost from active duty through the age-limit retirement on pension of Albert William Underhill, agent, and Henry Heppel Pearson, ticket agent, at that station

Mr. Underhill had served forty years and Mr Pearson forty-nine years in the New York Central organization, both with high credit to themselves and both number a host of friends among their fellow employes and patrons of the railroad

Mr. Underhill reached the working age-limit of seventy years February 8th last He entered the railroad service as a switchman at Dutchess Junction, November 1, 1879. In 1881 he was transferred to freight clerk at Fishkill, where he became station agent in 1882. In 1896 he was appointed freight agent at Poughkeepsie, whence he was placed in charge at Rhinecliff.

Mr. Pearson began his railroad career as baggage agent and operator at Dobbs Ferry, March 1, 1870, whence he was transferred to the same position at Rhinecliff in 1872. He became ticket agent at Rhinecliff in 1880.—New York Central Magazine

MADE RELIGIOUS SURVEY SUNDAY

Protestant Churches and Ulster County Bible Society Made Survey of Kingston—Last Survey by Bible Society in 1883.

Sunday afternoon men and women of the Protestant Churches of Kingston and members of the Ulster County Bible Society met at the various churches, where they were given cards and instructions and made a house to house canvass of the city, making a religious survey. This survey was non-sectarian and non-denominational, and was for statistical purposes only.

The last religious survey of the city was made in 1883 by the Ulster County Bible Society. The survey Sunday was along similar lines. The head of the house was asked ten simple questions which were noted on the blank cards furnished the workers. He was asked what church he was affiliated with, if any. If not connected with any church he was asked what church would be his preference if he decided to become a church member.

When the cards filled out by the workers are collected and the data ascertained the survey will give an accurate idea of how many residents of the city are united with any church, and those who belong to no church.

With the probable exception of one or two blocks the entire city was canvassed Sunday. The various wards of the city were assigned to the various Protestant Churches.

A similar survey is being made throughout the county by the Ulster County Bible Society.

WORKERS EARNED SLIGHTLY LESS

In Factories of State in October as Compared With September—Due to Strikes, Holiday and Seasonal Reductions.

Albany, Nov. 24.—Factory workers' earnings averaged 2 per cent lower in October than in September. In general, the decrease may be attributed to time lost during the period covered by the October reports. Several factors appear in the reports of 1,648 manufacturers to the Bureau of Statistics of the State Industrial Commission. Observance of Columbus Day in many industries, especially in New York city, time lost through strikes, and seasonal reductions in several industries are the chief reasons for the slight decline in the average weekly earnings of workers.

The October average earning was $24.41 as compared with $24.83 in September and $23.85 in August. The New York city average dropped from $26.17 in September to $24.68 in October, or approximately the same as in August.

Compared with a year previous, the average earning of factory workers was 9 per cent higher in October of this year. Among the main industry groups, the increases over last year range from 1 to 33 per cent. The largest gains are 33 per cent for the clothing industries, 24 per cent for the textile industries, and 19 per cent in the fur, leather and rubber goods industries.

During the month from September to October average earnings increased 1 per cent in paper manufacturing, 3 per cent in water, light and power plants, and 4 per cent in textiles. All other chief divisions of manufacturing show reductions of from 1 to 6 per cent in the earnings of workers.

The gain in the earnings of paper workers and employes of water, light and power plants appears to be due to more working time in October. In the textile industries the gain in earnings is greatest in wool manufactures Several manufacturers of rugs and carpets report increases of from 15 to 30 per cent. Other gains—in cotton goods and knit goods—appear to be due to increased activity in mills which have been affected by strikes for a number of weeks past.

The greatest decrease of the month in the earnings of factory workers—in the paper goods and printing industries—is due mainly to reduced operations resulting from the strike of printers in New York city. Observance of Columbus Day is a secondary factor in lowering the working time in these industries.

Average weekly earnings in the clothing industries and in the manufacture of food and tobacco products dropped more than a dollar from September to October.

The New York city men's and women's outer garment industries are responsible for the decrease in the average earnings of clothing workers. Observance of Columbus Day or of Jewish holidays, and reduced operations in some firms combined to materially reduce the earnings of workers in these industries.

In food manufactures the chief decreases in earnings were in canning, sugar refining and baking. The lower earnings in canning work are the result of the usual seasonal decline. Sugar refining was limited by the shortage of raw sugar, which, to a considerable extent, was due to the strike of longshoremen. Columbus Day observance was the chief cause of a marked decrease in the average of tobacco workers' earnings.

The metal industries as a whole show little change in the average weekly earnings of workers. Considerable decreases from September to October appear in the iron and steel industry, in shipbuilding and in the jewelry industry, chiefly as the result of strikes. These decreases, however, were nearly offset by increased earnings in brass and copper goods, sheet metal goods, cutlery and firearms, automobiles and airplanes, and railway supply and repair shops.

Earnings in wood working also show a decrease from September to October. The greatest drop in the average weekly earnings of employes was in the musical instruments division, due to the strike in New York city piano factories. In miscellaneous wood products, such as smoking pipes and brooms, a decrease appears, which may also be attributed chiefly to labor troubles.

Average weekly earnings of workers in the chief divisions of manufacturing in October were as follows:

Stone, clay and glass	$25.29
Metals and machinery	27.06
Wood manufactures	22.41
Furs, leather and rubber goods	24.28
Chemicals, oils and paints	24.25
Paper manufacture	26.99
Printing and paper goods	24.07
Textiles	19.98
Clothing	22.55
Food, beverages and tobacco	21.84
Water, light and power	30.47
Total, all industries	$24.41

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Nov. 24.—Remember the cottage prayer meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Paradee this evening at 7:30, to which everyone is most cordially invited.

Union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Methodist church on Wednesday evening, November 26, at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Leonard Appeldoorn, pastor of the Reformed church, will preach. Everyone is invited to this union service.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wurts Taylor of Highland spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Hotaling on Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shultis and family of Broadway were guests of relatives in Woodstock on Sunday.

Miss Angie Hutchings of New York city is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hutchings on Broadway.

Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will not meet in their lodge rooms Wednesday evening but will attend the union Thanksgiving service in the Methodist church. Let every member make an effort to be in line.

Port Ewen Lodge, No. 656, I. O. O. F., will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in their rooms on Broadway.

A meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Church of the Presentation will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Ward.

Word has been received by many friends of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Arcularius, widow of the late Rev. A. M. Arcularius, who was pastor of the Port Ewen Reformed Church for fifteen years. She died at home home in Brooklyn, November 20, after an illness of one week. She leaves to mourn her loss one son, two daughters and two grandsons. She was a woman of fine Christian character and a devoted mother. She was laid to rest in Greenwood Cemetery by the side of her husband who died six years ago.

LAKE KATRINE.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shaw entertained a number of visitors on Sunday. Mrs. Rachel Hendrickson of Kerhonkson, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Boice, Mr. Trueman of Katrine, G. Satterlee and Howard Schoonmaker of Accord. The latter has been abroad as a Y. M. C. worker.

Miss Anna Snyder spent the day with her sister, Mrs. Harry Davis, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kieffer motored to Coeymans last Sunday and called on John Stilan.

Alfred Lloyd and family, who have occupied the bungalow owned by Mrs. Burbett, the past summer, have moved to Kingston.

A successful dance and pig roast dinner was given at the Grange Hall Thursday evening by Ira Woolsey and Luther Garrison of Kingston, the seventy-five people attending.

The Old House.

The old house is old,
The old house is still,
The old house is tumbling down,
And rotting on its sill.

The old house is occupied,
It's turned into a mill,
Where evergreens are used,
Queer orders to fulfill.

One woman there each day
Winds roping by the yard.
The other cuts the pine,
And oftimes says she's tired.

But when the day is done
They quickly close the door.
And if you looked inside
You'd wonder at the floor!

The pine boughs are here,
The sticky pitch is there.
And if you look again
You'll find pitch everywhere.

Then at the supper table
They swallow food galore.
And as soon as they are able
They start to eat some more.

Almost Too Obliging.

A Scottish emigrant on his arrival at Montreal stopped for a moment to examine a coat hanging in front of a clothing store, when the proprietor asked him if he would not try on a coat, relates the Scottish American. "I dinna ken but I wad," responded the emigrant, consulting his watch; and he went in and set to work. No matter how often he found a fit, he tried on another and another till he tried on about thirty. Then again looking at his watch, he resumed his own garment and walked off, saying: "Weel, I've lost time, nae doot, but hang the fellow that'll no' obleege anither when he can!"

Social Etiquette in China.

The Chinese send three invitations to guests. The first is dispatched two days before the feast; the second on the day itself, to remind those they expect of their engagement; and the third just before the hour has struck so as to show how impatient they are to see their friends.

Quite Comfortable, Thank You.

A comfortable widow is Mrs. Amanda Jackson, colored. She is drawing three $57.50 pensions, or $172.50 a month, for the loss of three husbands during the war, and will draw that amount for 20 years. Mrs. Jones' husband died of spinal meningitis soon after entering the service and taking out a $10,000 insurance policy. The widow married one Smith. He took a maximum life insurance policy in her favor and was killed in action. Then Mrs. Jones-Smith married Private Jackson, a returned soldier, who also named her in a $10,000 policy. Influenza made her a widow a third time in less than two years. The war risk bureau declines to make known her address, doubtless fearing that she would be inundated with offers of marriage.

WINE AND CIDER MADEWAAK DRUNK

Shipyard Worker First Man Arrested For Public Intoxication Since October 5—Herman Pays a $5 Fine.

With hat cocked on one side of his head and murmuring soft nothings to himself Herman Waak, 29 years old, staggered down lower Broadway Sunday afternoon with a jag, the like of which has not been seen in many moons. To inquiring minds as to "how he got that way" they should take Herman's explanation to Judge Schirick this morning in police court that it was all due to mixing cider and wine.

Herman resides at No. 60 Broadway. He has been a resident of the city but three months he said, and was employed on a local shipyard. Incidentally it was the first time that he had been able to get anything to drink with a "kick" to it in three months also.

He was arrested late Sunday afternoon by Officer Healey, and as soon as he was assigned a cell in the county jail, the effects of the wine and cider wore off sufficiently for him to inquire if he could not be released on bail. As he seemed more sober than when brought in, bail was fixed at $30 cash, and he escaped spending the night as the city's guest.

This morning Judge Schirick, on Herman's plea of guilty, imposed a fine of $5 with the warnng to never let it happen again. Herman paid his fine and left.

There were no other arrests made, and no other cases in police court.

Pays to Be Straight.

There's a satisfaction in living up to your obligations. Only the man who consistently meets his bills can look the world in the face without either feeling shame or acting the lie. It makes a fellow step with a firmer tread when he knows that he has done his best and that no one can call him a slacker or point toward him the finger of scorn. Sometimes he may feel burdened by this constant living up to ideals when others don't, but the load will soon become one of satisfaction as conscience declares approval. You can't do beter than live up to your sense of obligation.—Grit.

Selah!

The word Selah, which occurs so frequently in the Psalms, is usually believed to be a direction to the musicians who chanted the Psalms in the temple. Mattheson, the great musical critic, wrote a book on the subject in which, after rejecting a number of theories, he came to the conclusion that it is equivalent to the modern "da capo," and is a direction that the air or song is to be repeated from the commencement to the part where the word is placed.

TAI SHAN A SACRED PLACE

Chinese Mountain Said to Be the Oldest Permanent Place of Worship on Earth.

There are five sacred mountains in China, and the most sacred of all is Tai Shan, the Great mountain, said to be the oldest permanent place of worship in the world. In 2000 B. C. Tai Shan's crest had been a regular scene of sacrifices and prayers for nobody knew how long. Emperors and lesser officials, even Confucius the Wise, journeyed up the long, narrow trail of Tai Shan to come near to the God of Heaven and Earth and made their prayers before Him.

Since those days of simple worship, many temples and shrines have been built on Tai Shan's slopes. Buddhism, Taoism, Confucianism, all are represented, and there are temples, too, to the Lady of the Mountain, who is called by some a fairy, by others a goddess, and by others the spirit or soul of the mountain. Whatever her character, the lady is well represented on her mountain top and her shrines are popular.

The journey up the mountainside is accomplished by the traveler partly in a swinging chair supported by Chinese bearers and partly on foot. The "Way" consists of a granite walk, interrupted every little while by flights of steps which stretch on and on and become steeper and closer together until the pilgrim has mounted 6,000 steps and the peak of Tai Shan is reached.

Here there are more temples and thick incense and grave old priests who announce a pilgrim's presence to the gods by ringing deep-toned bells. A little way off is pointed out a rock overhanging a sheer precipice. From this rock, called "The Rock of the Love of Life," persons who had sick relatives used to fling themselves, hoping that the sacrifice of one life would appease the gods so that the other would be spared. Now the dangerous cliff is barred, and pilgrims are forced to appeal to the gods in the conventional Chinese methods.

WILL BE WONDERFUL ROAD

Highway of Solid Granite in the Rocky Mountains a Rival of the Appian Way.

Taking example from the famous Appian way, which has the name of being the first great road undertaken by the Romans as a public work, the state of Colorado, with the help of an appropriation by the United States government, is building a highway of solid granite in the Rocky mountains. No other highway in the world, it is predicted, will provide travelers with so magnificent a scenic setting, close to a sheer fall of 2,000 feet on the other side of the great concrete posts and cables that will safeguard vehicular traffic. One gets an idea of the road from the practical statement that it is costing $250,000 a mile to build. Like the Appian way, on which long stretches of pavement first traveled over 2000-odd years before the Christian era, still remain practically perfect, the chairman of the Colorado highway commission believes that Colorado is creating a work which will defy the centuries and stand, on completion, as the most wonderful road in the modern world.

Red Hair Unpopular.

Red hair, however unjustly, is still associated with deceit, and, in Ireland and Scotland, with ill luck as well. In the highlands he who needs a red-haired woman when starting on a journey will be well advised, say the wiseacres, to return home and start the journey afresh; and in Ireland red-haired people are supposed to exercise the same baneful influence upon any undertaking.

THE SIMPLE LIFE

Preachers of the simple life were never more needed than now when a dollar has the purchasing power of only about fifty cents and the world is filled with unrest and discontent. Best for the inner man always the simple life may now be regarded as a paying investment from the point of view of the outer man's pocket. And the simple life is more closely allied with the life of service than might be supposed, for the useful man is he who labors with a contented mind and does more good work for less reason.

John D Rockefeller Jr once surprised an audience of negroes by saying that to be a good waiter or a good cook or a good carpenter is to follow the teachings of Christ. This is quite true for the Scriptures make it altogether clear that the law of life for service that true success or truly to live well is to perform the duties of one office whatever it may be, honestly and faithfully in order to be of real use to the world. Of course a nation of the Red" variety and the unhappy victims of social unrest would sneer at this as platitudinous advice to the simple-minded to be industriously contented in the station in life to which they have been called describing it as the same old tale that has been told by the European upper classes to the European lower classes during many generations. But they unwisely disregard the fact that there is apt to be more genuine happiness in moderate cream tastes and in obscurity than among those seeking money, position and power at all costs. To a graduating class of the Army Medical School a speaker wise through illuminating experience, said pointedly:

I beseech you, young men, do not envy us our fine houses and our world success. Yours is the better part. You will never know the fierce competition of modern life, in which the weaker is thrust to the wall, the petty desire for notoriety, the ignoble straining after money and social distinction. "To be content with small means," as Stevenson puts it to reach e that "it is better to toil hop fully than to arrive"—is not this the true philosophy of life? I wish that I could make you feel how much sweeter and happier and more helpful you can make your lives, how much more of a benediction to others than can we who are handicapped by our artificial environment.

This applies not only to the young army physician but to the great mass of men and women who do the bulk of the world's work and who sometime sigh for riches or the harsh side of it. One might bring to persons like the simple and useful life holds out more to offer. The present widespread unrest is very largely due to lack of contentment in moderate cream tastes although moderate circumstances as a rule are the most productive of happiness and of real strength. Solomon in his book of proverbs tells of a man who was wise enough to get "Neither poverty nor riches feed me with food convenient for me." Just like him. Solomon. The latest. Who is the Lord? Or I be poor and steal, and take the name of my God in vain."

The famous story is told of Lafayette that when he shook hands with a lot of people at Pittsburgh in 1824 he stood at a man in the line "Are you married. On receiving an affirmative answer the distinguished Frenchman commented. Happy fellow." The old man in fact having confessed that he was a bachelor, "Lucky dog," whispered tactful Lafayette.

A former German Vice Chancellor has been fined 7,000 marks for refusing to answer a question put to him by a committee of the National Assembly. Few people will be disposed to fight at that rate, for the German mark, worth about 25 cents in 1914, is now down to a fraction over 2 cents.

The Canadians cool themselves with ice cream and the Mexicans heat themselves with pepper more than any other two peoples in the world. Yet snowy Canada would seem to need the pepper and tropic Mexico the ice cream. You never can tell.

FARMER TO GET MORE FOR MILK

During Winter Months Under New Agreement—The December Prices Vary as Usual as to Zone and Butter Fat.

League milk for the month of December has been sold for $3.68 per hundred pounds or at the rate of 7.8 cents per quart. This is the basic price for milk containing 3 per cent butterfat at 200 miles from New York. The actual price to farmers will be slightly less than the basic price further than the 200 miles and slightly more than the basic price to the producers nearer than the 200 miles from New York, the variation depending on the freight rate. The returns to the farmer will also vary as usual with the butterfat content, the farmer receiving 4 cents for each one-tenth of one per cent of butterfat above the basic 3 per cent. Thus the dairyman whose milk tests 4.6 per cent butterfat will receive the basic price of $3.68 plus 16 or 24 cents additional per hundred pounds for milk containing butterfat above 3 per cent. These differentials for freight and butterfat are not figured differently on the December price but are the same differentials that have been in use for some time.

Price Plan Changed

At the same time when the December milk was sold the Dairymen's League and the dealers agreed upon a general price plan for selling league milk for each month until March 31 1920. This plan is the same that has been used since last April with several modifications which will result in better winter prices to the farmer. The price for each month is determined upon the 20th of the preceding month by taking as a base, the average market prices for butter and cheese for the preceding thirty days and adding to this average certain allowances for skim milk and whey and also certain arbitrary differentials for each month to allow for the costs of producing market milk in the New York territory.

According to the plan therefore the price for each month will vary according to the law of supply and demand for dairy products. Dairymen have approved the general principles of this price plan as it worked out during the past summer, but feed labor and other costs of production are rapidly advancing and the milk prices this fall have been below the costs of production. The dairymen have been forced therefore to ask the dealers for changes that would bring better returns for winter milk.

At times during the negotiations the situation became very strained but the general plan was finally agreed upon which will sell the league milk for the entire winter period without further friction.

"Are you a member of the I. W. W.?" "No," replied Plodding Pete. "I know a feller that thought the initials stood for 'Idleness Will Win.' The first thing the 'sociation did after he joined was to try to make him set up a private bomb factory an' work fourteen hours a day."—Baltimore American.

Where are you going?" "To my locker." "Sick or thirsty?"—Life.

Teacher—"Now can any of you tell me which is the most dangerous part of an automobile?" Tommy (who walks to school)—"Yes, ma'am, the driver?"—Judge.

Quinine As A Tonic

Most people know that quinine is good for colds and grippe as well as a tonic. When taken in tonic doses compounded with other valuable ingredients, as are contained in Heneph's Laxative Cold and Grippe Tablets, you are not only breaking up your cold but strengthening your system against sudden changes in the weather. When you feel achy, and chilly, to ward off further attacks of cold and grippe start taking Heneph's Laxative Cold and Grippe Tablets. How To Save Your Automobile And Cut Down Repair Bills

Below are 12 reasons why heating your Garage this winter will save your Car and greatly reduce your repair bills.

Coal-burning
Self-regulating
Hot Water

WASCO GARAGE HEATING SYSTEM READY-TO-SET-UP

Several Sizes
For 1- to 10-Car
Garages

1. Eliminate Frozen Radiators.
An unheated garage means springing the radiator, cracking the water jacket of the engine, freezing the water and breaking the pump. Anti-freeze compounds are liable to evaporate, especially if the engine overheats.

2. Save the Engine.
Gasoline cannot vaporize when the cylinders and carburetor are cold, and starting is difficult. The engine sputters and kicks on half the cylinders and finally, after much gasoline and electricity have been wasted, it starts.

3. Reduce Carbon Deposits in the Cylinders.
To start a cold engine there must be a rich mixture of gasoline and air the first five minutes. This increases carbon deposits.

4. Save the Bearings.
Oil becomes thick and sluggish in a cold garage. This results in the bearings scoring before becoming warmed by the friction. When starting a cold engine, the knocking means more damage to the bearings.

5. Save the Battery.
The storage battery, being a chemical machine, and as chemicals act very slowly when cold, the battery cannot take full charge. The extra load put onto the battery in starting the cold engine soon discharges the battery beyond the danger point. "Over charging" occurs and this is responsible for most all battery troubles. The chemicals become useless and fall off the grids. The battery becomes weak and finally must be replaced.

6. Save the Car Finish.
In an unheated garage, moisture slowly accumulates under the varnish and freezes, which cracks and spoils the varnish. This does not happen in a warm, dry garage. The warmth and dryness preserve the finish and upholstery of the machine. Refinishing a car is expensive.

7. Save the Tires.
If the garage is not warm and dry, moisture gets into the fabric of the tires through cuts. This moisture freezes while the car is not in use and loosens the fabric and eventually ruins the tires.

8. For Easy Cleaning of the Car.
Mud and snow freeze to the car in a cold garage. When washing the car in an unheated garage, the water freezes on, which spoils the finish. The mud and snow melt off the car in a garage that is heated.

9. For Comfort in Oiling, Altering the Batteries, etc.
It is a pleasure to attend your car in a warm garage, but not when the fingers are cold and numb and the feet almost frozen.

10. Prevent Colds and Sickness.
Working around the car in an unheated garage results in colds and grippe. Heat your garage and save doctor bills.

11. For Safety.
The damper regulator of the WASCO Garage Heating System allows the air in the garage to be drawn up the stove pipe. This creates a circulation through the garage and prevents possible accumulation of gasoline vapors anywhere. Explosive mixtures are more liable to form in a cold garage, whereas they are diffused in a warm garage, especially when the air is circulated as with the WASCO Heating System.

12. For a Quick, Sure Start Any Time.
To the office early—to the theatre on time—to keep an appointment—to catch a certain train—you will be sure to be there if your garage and car are kept continuously warm with a coal-burning, self-regulating WASCO Heating System.

Telephone or write us for more details and big illustrated catalog that gives the experience of many users last winter.

Freak of Nature.

One might think that the peaceful bumblebee and the milkweed would make ideal partners, but such is not the case says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. These remarkable plants, which not only flow with honey, but also incite their insect guests by a strong honey scent, are utterly ignored by the big hungry bumblebee.

"When You Are in Rome," Etc.

The saying is taken from St. Ambrose's advice to St. Austin in regard to Sabbath keeping. He says to St. Austin: "When I am in Rome I fast as the Romans do; when I am in Milan I do not fast. So likewise you, wherever church you come to, observe the custom of the place, if you would neither give offense to others, nor take offense from them."

RAN 5,000 VOTES AHEAD OF TICKET

DR. W. E. E. LITTLE.

One of the wonders of politics is the way Dr. W. E. E. Little of this city, Democratic candidate for the office of county treasurer, ran in the recent election. Although opposed by a strong candidate on the Republican ticket, and defeated by nearly 800 votes, Dr Little ran more than 5,000 votes ahead of his ticket, although he was confined to his home by serious illness during the greater part of the campaign and was unable to do any canvassing. The plurality of Conner, the Republican candidate for coroner, was 5,953. The plurality of Lounsbery, Republican candidate for county treasurer, was 792. Dr. Little ran 5,161 ahead of his party's candidate for coroner and 5,412 ahead of his party's candidate for district attorney.

Dr Little is a native of Ogdensburg, N. Y., and was educated at the Ottawa, Canada, Collegiate Institute. He studied medicine at the Jefferson Medical College, in Philadelphia, the Burlington, Vt., Medical College, and was graduated in 1884 from the Baltimore, Md., College of Physicians and Surgeons. He came to Ulster county, while studying medicine, as teacher of the district school at Creek Locks and from there went to Baltimore to finish his course in medicine, returning to Creek Locks to practice his profession after graduation. While residing in Bloomington he was health officer of the town of Rosendale, held the office of coroner and was continuously for ten years, from 1896 to 1907, supervisor of that town. In 1908 he was member of assembly from the Second district. He has been an unsuccessful candidate for the office of county treasurer previous to this year, being defeated by even a smaller margin than this year.

In 1886 Dr. Little was married to Miss Anna S. Royton. They have five children. Socially Dr Little is a Mason, an Elk, an Odd Fellow and a Knight of Pythias. He is a member of the Ulster County Medical Society and of the American Medical Association. The only thing about Dr. Little that does not meet with the unanimous approval of his friends is that he is also a member of the Democratic party.

Professor K. F. Wenckebach

Professor K F. Wenckebach of Austria, who is one of the delegates from the Central Powers, to the Anti-Famine Conference which is scheduled to take place shortly in London. The professor, on his arrival in London, reported that food conditions in Austria were beyond imagination. He declared that aid must be forthcoming within a very short time, otherwise the country would be threatened with famine.

MARY PICKFORD

At Keeney's Today—Margaret Anglin Friday at Opera House.

"Everybody's Sweetheart" is here and will remain for three days showing four times daily at Keeney's in her latest and greatest, "The Hoodlum," a photoplay in which little Mary evolutes and almost degenerates again but finishes the cycle on the top revolution. A photoplay to be as good as "Daddy Longlegs" has to be "some picture" but here it is. There will be the usual four shows daily at one, three seven and nine.

The House of Intrigue, an absorbing mystery-romance of crooks and high-society, with a notable cast, including Peggy May, M'anon Anderson and Donald McDonald will be shown at the Auditorium tonight. Tomorrow Wallace Reid in. "The Roarin Road."

Margaret Anglin, with a modern play entitled "The Woman of Bronze," by Henry Kistemaecker and Fuzene Delard, will appear at the Kingston Opera House next Friday night. These two authors, who are well known French dramatists, have provided a vehicle for Miss Anglin which brings her back from the light comedy stage to the scenes of her greatest triumphs, the emotional drama.

Livingston Street Church Supper.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church will give its annual supper on Thanksgiving day. An elegant menu has been prepared and anyone intending to partake of the same is requested to come as early as possible, as these delicious suppers have attained the reputation for being the "best ever." The usual fancy booth, with its many useful and reasonably priced articles will also be there. Supper will be served from 5 o'clock to 8 o'clock.

"Red Tape."

The expression "red tape" originated in the fact that tape dyed crimson is commonly and largely used in public and private business in tying up papers, hence it has come to refer to excessive formality and routine in business transactions.

Mme Therese Clemenceau Jacquemaire

Mme. Therese Clemenceau-Jacquemaire, daughter of Georges Clemenceau Premier of France, photographed on her arrival in New York aboard the liner La France from Havre. Mme Jacquemaire is here to lecture in many of the principal cities of the country. On her arrival she said she would confine her lectures mostly to French life, telling many of your soldiers saw only the dark side of. There is an understanding in America of the French people and their ways and it is my duty to remove this unfavorable impression from those who have adopted it." Mme Jacquemaire's mother was an American Miss Mary Plummer, whom the French Premier met in a Glasgow (Scotland) school where he was teaching French, and whom he married on the New York City Hall.

Making Chlorophyl.

Chlorophyl is the green coloring matter common to growing plants. Take a handful of parsley and triturate in a mortar with enough alcohol (95 per cent) to cover the mass. Decant the green liquid and allow it to evaporate spontaneously. The chlorophyl remains as an intensely green substance. This may be used to color candies and as cake icings, says the Electrical Experimenter.

Old Maids and Bachelors.

A bachelor may be legal, but there is always something funny about him. In the case of the old maid, there is always the possible excuse that her lover died; but if a man wanted to get married, he wouldn't pay any attention to a thing like that.—Howe's Monthly.

HOME BUREAU'S ACTIVE PART

To Be Taken at Annual Farm Bureau Meeting December 6—Miss Van Rensselaer and Other Prominent Speakers.

The annual Farm Bureau meeting will take place Saturday, December 6th, beginning at 10 a. m., in the armory at Kingston. The Home Bureau is to have an active part in this annual meeting and has arranged for a special program that will interest every woman in the county. This meeting is for every one and you are urged to come to Kingston on Saturday, December 6th and attend the meeting.

In the morning the Home Bureau and Farm Bureau meetings will be separate. The Home Bureau meeting will be held in tre Y. M C. A. building at Kingston, just one block up from the armory, while the Farm Bureau meeting is being held in the armory. This morning session in the Y. M. C. A will begin at 10 a. m The Home Bureau has been particularly fortunate in being able to secure some of the most prominent and interesting speakers that could be found Miss Florence Freer, state leader of all the Home Bureaus in New York state and several women from the county will speak at this morning meeting. Mrs William Warren, president of the Home Bureau will preside at this meeting

In the afternoon of the annual meeting the Farm and Home Bureaus will hold a joint session in the armory and an exceptionally fine program of interest to both men and women has been arranged. Prof Martha Van Rensselaer at the head of the Home Economics Department at Cornell University and also at the head of all of the extension work in Home Economics in New York state is expected as the Home Bureau speaker, and as one county woman who has heard Miss Van Rensselaer speak said at a Home Bureau meeting yesterday, "Any one who misses hearing Miss Van Rensselaer misses a wonderful treat and will always regret it." Every woman in the county will want to hear S L. Strivings who is also one of the speakers in the afternoon. S L Strivings is president of the State Federation of Farm Bureaus and lecturer of the State Grange and as all who have heard him can say that he was one of the best speakers that has ever come to Ulster county

As has always been the custom there will be a banquet in the evening followed by another entertaining program. It is expected that Mrs A. E P Searing of Kingston and the first county chairman of our Home Bureau will be one of the speakers and every one who has heard Mrs. Searing will not miss this part of the program There will also be several other prominent and entertaining speakers on this evening program.

SUPPORT MUSIC

Sings and Concerts Very Desirable Says Admiral.

Kingston, N. Y., Monday, Nov. 23, '19

To the Editor of Kingston Freeman:

If music is the "Sunshine of the Soul" and "the gladness of the world" as it has often been called then all Kingstonians should rejoice at the efforts to cultivate a musical atmosphere in Kingston made by the Symphony Society and by Harry Dodge with his Community Singing organization. The concert given last Sunday at Keeney's Theatre was certainly a most enjoyable one, with its combination of orchestral music and community singing and these Sunday afternoon concerts will no doubt become very popular. Certainly the promoters of these musical entertainment, deserve the hearty support of all music lovers and of those who believe that music in a community is one of the best evidences of culture and the highest form of relaxation from the cares and worries of daily life. I am told that in former times, while Kingston and Rondout were still in the village state that there was much musical rivalry and contests between the two villages with many noted singers It would be interesting if some one would tell us about that period. Meanwhile let us all give our support to the present effort to make us a music loving community.

FRANCIS J. HIGGINSON.

Where the Lazy Thrive.

Perhaps, among the happiest people in the world, are the Ekoi, of southern Nigeria, on the equator. Here they pay no taxes, and a few weeks' labor will supply them with food, clothes and a home for a year, thanks to the fruitful land. These people have a superstition that little children love sweet words, kind looks and gentle voices, and if the family into which they have been reincarnated is quarrelsome, they will forsake the earth until the chance offers to return again amid more peaceful surroundings. Dancing is one of their main occupations, and, on all great festivals, the chief societies of men, women and children come up to the station to give a series of dances.

Weather Optimism.

Everybody, said Mark Twain, complains of the weather but nobody ever does anything about it. It is the common failing of humanity thoughtlessly to consider its personal comfort first, in disregard of the benefits which may result from a warm spell which ripens the crops, or a rainy season which fills the natural reservoirs, or a cold snap which is supposed to make away with next season's orchard and garden pests. And there is also on the side of the commercial weather express the testimony of Dr. Ellsworth Huntington of Yale that modernity of temperature and humidity are not good for civilization, that man progresses most where there is a variety of climate.

Don't Take Gas Costs So Seriously

Remedy fuel expenses instead of raving about them. You can any time you take a notion. It's all up to you.

You have the means at hand. It is for you to choose—whether you want to continue paying heavy travel tax or not.

Doesn't make a nickel's worth of difference what year your car came from the factory—what the make—the size—or number of cylinders it can be made to produce far greater mileage with a New Stromberg Carburetor

This is not mere say so You're not taking a chance. It's not a matter of may be you will get more mileage—and may be you won't. You will absolutely.

Yours is not the first car of its kind, its size or its age that has been equipped with a New Stromberg

The New Stromberg holds world mileage records on practically all makes of machines—under every conceivable road and climatic condition.

There isn't a car in operation that can't be made to give more mileage with Stromberg equipment. And by more mileage—we mean a lot more—enough more to make a sizeable hole in your gas bills.

We have facts galore to back up our assertions—proof positive that the New Stromberg will make a radical reduction in fuel consumption and cost on any car.

Come and look over this evidence of economy Put a New Stromberg on your car for a Ten day Test.

If it doesn't prove up—we will take it back. You've got to get more mileage—more power—more speed—better acceleration—or you'll get your money back.

PAINLESS EXTRACTING of TEETH

Extracting teeth is painless in any modern dental office. The Cady Dental Offices use Nitrous-Oxide Gas for general anaesthesia. Where the patient desires to remain conscious but have the operation painless, Metz Novocanin-Supranein Tablets are used in a saline solution. This local anaesthetic is painless and there is no soreness of the gums after the teeth are extracted. The Cady Dental Offices have been established 35 years.

HEARINGS ON MILK PROBLEMS

Announcement was made today at the Department of Farms and Markets that President William E. Dana of the Farms and Markets Council with Commissioner Charles S Wilson of the Division of Agriculture and Commissioner Eugene H. Porter of the Division of Foods and Markets will hold a series of hearings during December in New York and other cities of the state. Seward A. Miller, counsel for the department, will sit with the committee of which President Dana is chairman. Information secured at the hearings, with other data already obtained relating to milk problems, will be made the basis of legislative recommendations by the council.

These hearings, according to the announcement, will not be for the purpose of investigating either the cost of production or distribution of milk but with the object of obtaining the well-considered opinions on remedial legislation from those most interested, the producers, distributors and consumers to aid the council in formulating definite constructive legislation, covering the distribution of milk.

The Council of Farms and Markets, it was said, has been giving serious consideration to the milk problem, having held investigations in several cities up-state as to milk distribution and production and also having obtained and analyzed the results of other inquiries.

Tentative dates for the hearings have been set for New York, December 2, and Buffalo, December 11. The committee has under consideration hearings at Rochester, Syracuse and Utica, and possibly sessions at Binghamton and Albany.

Foxes Among Doctor's Chickens.

Wilson Markle, chauffeur for Dr. W. E. E. Little on St. James street, had two young foxes in the barn back of the house on St. James street. A few days ago one of the foxes got out and killed eight of Mrs. Little's fine fowls, and Saturday night the other one made a getaway and killed seventeen more chickens. Sunday morning Mr. Markle shot the fox and will sell the hide, the proceeds to go to paying for the chickens.

Chimney Fire Put Out.

A chimney fire at the residence of Ferd Van Gaasbeek, 52 St. James street, Saturday evening about 6:45 o'clock, caused an alarm to be sounded from Box 77, and the firemen were soon on the spot and quickly extinguished the fire.

STILL SEEKING DANSEY SLAYER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Hammonton, N. J., Nov. 24.—Search for the kidnapper and alleged slayer of three year old "Billy" Dansey took a new turn today as a result of the suggestion that the skeleton found in Folsom swamp was not that of the long lost boy, but had been placed there to mislead the authorities.

While Coroner Charles C. Cunningham expressed belief that there might be something in this latest theory, no hopes were held out to the Dansey family that "Billy" is still alive.

Coroner Cunningham announced he will hold an inquest and has held up plans for the removal of the bones to Pittsburgh for burial. The investigation continued today for some tangible evidence upon which to base an arrest.

Lyndon Hall Sold.

Lyndon Hall, famous as the Poughkeepsie Female Collegiate Institute in the middle of the last century has been sold by Mrs. Samuel Wells Buck, the owner of the property, to Barnett Abramsky. There are forty-eight rooms in the building. The purchaser, who paid over $25,000 for the property, will convert it into apartments.

DELCO-LIGHT

"Electricity for every Farm"

The Delco-Light engine is the valve-in-the-head type—used in the best and most powerful airplane engines and in hundreds of thousands of automobiles.

It is air-cooled—runs on kerosene in any climate—has only one place to oil and has a simple mixing valve in place of carburetor.

The storage battery is exclusively designed and built for Delco-Light with thick plates, wood and rubber separators and many improvements that insure long life.

Delco-Light long ago passed the experimental stage and has gone through the refining influence of three and one-half years of production and of usage by 75,000 customers.

You will find plants in the homes of your community. Just ask your neighbor about his Delco-Light plant.

Delco-Light makes happy homes: it saves time and labor, taking away lots of hard, unpleasant tasks. It "Pays for Itself" by the work it does and the time it saves.

Of the more than 75,000 Satisfied Users of Delco-Light, the first are among the most enthusiastic—proof that the simplicity and durability of Delco-Light meets the requirements of its customers.

SEE THE PACIFIC COAST THIS WINTER—AND SEE IT ALL

The climate of the Pacific slope—from British Columbia on the North to the Mexican border on the South—is mild and pleasant all winter, varying in degree of mildness as one journeys North or South.

Rose and geranium weather, for which warm ocean currents are responsible, makes it possible for the visitor—whether in Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles or San Diego—whether motoring along the Columbia Highway or El Camino Real—to view the scenic wonders of the Far West in comfort, and to engage in all out-of-door sports, as in springtime.

And the scenery of the entire trans-Sierra region is so varied—with its cloud-crowned peaks, its mountain-born streams, its waterfalls, its flower-carpeted valleys and ocean beaches—that no part of it should be missed.

En route visit the National Parks, National Monuments, and other winter resorts. See Hawaii, too.

Trials of Matrimony.

We were stopping at a hotel, while on our honeymoon, and were trying to hide the fact that we were newly-weds. We succeeded quite well until dinner time. Just as we had reached the center of the big dining hall, a waiter stood upon her chair and shouted, "Which one is the bride, mamma?" Every one then knew, by my telltale blushing, that it was I—a most embarrassed bride.—Chicago Tribune.

Test That Proves One's Worth.

It is no great matter to associate with the good and gentle; for that is naturally pleasing to all, and every one willingly enjoyeth peace, and loveth those best that agree with him. But to be able to live peaceably with hard and perverse persons, or with the disorderly, or with such as go contrary to us, is a great grace, and a most commendable and manly thing.—Thomas a Kempis.

ALUMNI HELD 'EM SCORELESS

At the Athletic Field on Saturday afternoon the Kingston High School eleven fought the Alumni eleven to a scoreless tie. The Alumni line proved to be a stone wall and unpenetrable to the High School boys.

One of the features of the game was a 50 yard run by Winters, who was tackled on the 1 yard line by Goldberg. This was the nearest that the High School came to making a touchdown throughout the game. The lineup:

Alumni—Howard, L. E.; Oughcltree, L. T.; Green, C.; Gross, R. G.; Palisi, R. T.; Goldberg, R. E.; Wheeler, Q. B.; Beeres, L. H. B.; Schwab, R. H. B.; Johnson, F. B.

Origin of "French Leave."

The origin of "French leave" was explained in an English court by the judge recently. It did not arise, he said, out of the former French wars consequent upon the escape of Frenchmen, but in the early part of the eighteenth century in the salons of France. Certain guests, not aware of the higher arts of courtesy, were in the habit of leaving without saying goodby to the host or hostess, and it became a practice. Unfortunately that practice was adopted in certain circles of English society about the same time, and, therefore, it was said if a man left without saying goodby to his host he took "French leave," following the practice in France.

No Treat for the Bunch.

I was married at my mother's home in a small county town at 8:30 p. m. The train we were going to take left at 10 p. m. After the ceremony was over there was a loud noise of shouts, tin cans and bells outdoors. We tried to escape through the back door, but were stopped by some of my old schoolmates. One of them said to my husband: "You cannot get away with the belle of our town without treating the bunch." My husband stopped a moment and then, stuttering a bit, said: "Well, boys, I am very sorry, but I have only money enough to buy tickets back to the city."—Chicago Tribune.

ROAD BUILDING

BOND ISSUE IS BIG PROBLEM

Best Means to Pull Counties Out of Land of Mud—Make All Improvements Permanent.

The biggest single issue before the people today is good roads; biggest not alone of itself, but biggest because the prompt and satisfactory solution of a permanent road system in every state will help to solve a half-dozen fundamental problems and indirectly affect for good, as well as in dollars and cents, almost every phase of farm, social and industrial life in the state. We cannot expect to have a real system of roads unless it is based on large units and this is best accomplished by accepting the county and state basis with a few experienced and responsible men in charge in each case. We must have roads that begin and end somewhere.

Many counties are presenting to the taxpayers the question of a bond issue for the improvement of their highways. The bond issue for a public improvement should be governed by the same considerations which govern a bond issue by any business organization. When a manufacturing concern issues bonds, the money raised is placed in permanent improvements in the plant which will last far beyond the life of the bonds, or else no investor would purchase the securities. Bonds for municipal purposes or for public improvements are not always subjected to this acid test, and instances are numerous in this country where bonds for twenty years have been issued for the construction of public roads, where the type of roads built with the proceeds of the bond issue could not possibly last more than ten years, and even then expensive maintenance is continually necessary. In some instances history shows that during the life of such a bond issue the original road has been worn out and rebuilt with a different material, and with the proceeds of subsequent bond issues as many as three times, and still the original bonds are a liability on the community.

Bond issues for better roads are the best means to pull counties out of the Land of Mud. But it must be certain that the road improvements will last the life of the bonds. This can be assured by securing expert and unprejudiced engineering advice on the best kind of roads for the soil. The banker can perform yeoman service in this connection.

In the state of Iowa the man who began with nothing and now owns a $30,000 farm, believes in paying as he goes when building a road, but he will borrow money from an insurance company with which to buy more land, and he has not yet seen that when he builds a concrete bridge with one year's tax money, he has made a Christmas present of that bridge to posterity for the next one hundred years. He says that thirty-year paved roads are impossible because $10,000 per mile is too much to pay out of one year's tax money, and it has not occurred to him that there will still be taxpayers when he is dead and gone, who will be using that road, and by rights should have to pay some of it.—Wallace's Farmer.

COST OF VARIOUS HIGHWAYS

Macadam Road Is Most Expensive, But When Built Is Satisfactory and Permanent.

Dirt roads are ordinarily surfaced with sand, mixed with clay or with gravel, or brick, or crushed stone, concrete or other like material. The gravel road will cost from $1,500 to $3,500 a mile—the difference in cost depending upon the accessibility of gravel. The macadamized road costs from $2,000 to $10,000 per mile. It is the most expensive, but when well built is both satisfactory and permanent.

Essential Foundation.

Permanent foundations, having uniform bearing quality, are essential to all types of engineering structures. Roads are no exception.

Try Draining Wet Place.

Did you ever try draining that awful wet place in the road? Try it some time—once will be enough.

Don't Build on Paper.

If you want that road you're going to build to be of any value, build it on the ground—not on paper.

Useless to Try.

These were the words in a lecture, when crossed critically with at my expense: "The public up this mountain are too stingy for even a mule to climb; therefore I did not interrupt the natural ingredients."—Exchange.

Test of Endurance.

There was no doubt in the minds of the Hobart family that William Comer Tolbert, aged thirteen, was a born orator. Uncle Ligh Hobart voiced the general opinion when he said that he considered that William Comer was "equal to Dan'l Webster, allowin' for age. I tell ye what 'tis," said Uncle Ligh to the assembled family when the grammar-school exhibition was over, "a boy that can recite 'Thanatopsis' from start to finish and only hold up twice, once in the beginning to swallow, and once toward the end to cough, has got real speaking talents."—Youth's Companion.

Explaining His Intention.

A nervous young curate in an English coal mining district was officiating at his first wedding. The bride and bridegroom smiled encouragingly at his first few blunders, but matters got serious when he turned to the bridegroom and asked, "Will thou have this woman as thy wedded husband?" The bride tittered, but the curate, getting hotter and hotter, cried again, "Will thou have this man to this wedded woman?" he said. At this the bridegroom interfered. "Aw don't know wot yer wants me to 'ave 'er," he said, "but aw coom 'ere for 'er"—laying his horny hand on the bride's shoulder—"an' aw'll 'ave 'er or nowt."

Household stills confiscated by Federal agents.

Small whiskey stills for household use which were confiscated by Federal agents in a raid on a Philadelphia furnace repair shop. The stills had been ordered by customers and were ready for delivery when the agents swooped down on the place. The raid was rather a sad blow to several Quakerites.

LIMIT CLUB GAINS TEN NEW MEMBERS

Organizing for the Red Cross Christmas Seal sale is now taking up some of the energy of those in charge of the campaign, so the memberships in the $100 Limit Club are not coming in quite so rapidly. Judge Fowler and Dr. Mary Gage Day visited the southern part of the county on Sunday and are still busy organizing the various towns. Tuesday they will attend a meeting of Red Cross workers in Poughkeepsie.

Although the Limit Club has slowed down it has not stopped growing, as it now has a total of 65 members. The names of 55 of these have been printed and the 10 new ones are as follows:

Binnewater Lake Ice Co.
Dr. H. P. Van Wagenen
H. R. Brigham
E. Winter's Sons
J. J. McGrath of Phoenicia
Universal Road Machinery Co.
Mr. and Mrs. William O'Reilly
Mrs. Watson Freer
Watson Freer.
Freeman Publishing Co.

Also Captain Jansen Anderson.

A friend of the Anderson family whose names are so closely associated with that of the Mary Powell, "Queen of the Hudson," for so many years, has asked that the following additional fact regarding the history of that family be published in The Freeman. Captain Absalom Anderson was followed in command of the Mary Powell, by his son, Jansen Anderson, who in turn was "Captain Anderson," and who was greatly beloved both by his associates and the travelling public. However his career as captain of the Powell was cut short by his death a few years after that of his father. It was then that Eltinge Anderson, who had been acting as steward became "Captain Anderson."

CUTS BARLEY'S BEARD

Professor Performs Feat of Benefit to Farmers.

University of Alberta Agronomists Remove the Barb From Whiskers of Grain.

Edmonton, Alberta.—Trimming the beard of barley is the accomplishment claimed by the agronomists at the University of Alberta this summer. Specifically what they did was to attempt to remove the beard altogether, succeeding only in taking the barb out of the beard. This, it was declared, is of immense potential agricultural benefit.

It is the barb in barley that makes all the trouble in handling and feeding the grain, it is said, and unsuccessful efforts have been made for years both in Canada and the United States, to remove the beard. But with the barb gone the experts say the beard doesn't particularly matter.

If the claims made for the improved barley are borne out authorities hold it may become a staple variety of western Canada. Two varieties of barley are grown in Alberta—the two-rowed and six-rowed. The former is used for beer-making, but six-rowed barley is the chief crop of central Alberta for feeding purposes. It is a sure crop, favored in mixed farming regions, and yields from 40 to 50 bushels to the acre.

IN SCRAP OVER MAUSOLEUM

New York Woman Objects to Having Uncongenial Company in Her Last Resting Place.

New York.—Miss Mathilda Carlson is sixty years old and has no present intention of dying, but, according to her own story told in supreme court, when her time does come, she does not want to await the Angel Gabriel's trumpet in uncongenial company.

For upwards of forty years Miss Carlson told Justice Greenbaum, she and her sister, Sophia Carlson, toiled as domestic servants in various New York households and saved their money with a view toward providing themselves with "suitable last resting places." With the accumulated savings a mausoleum in Woodlawn cemetery was built.

At the time the purchase was made the Carlsons made provision for the interment of their nephew, Nils Fegelgren, and his wife and daughter in the same vault. The two families were then on good terms. Recently there was a falling out between the relatives and now Miss Carlson is seeking to have the names of the Fegelgrens stricken from the mausoleum deed.

The plaintiff said she and her sister paid $7,000 for the plot of ground and the mausoleum, which she testified, was built with a window in it and large enough for a person to walk about inside. The body of Sophia Carlson, who died a short time ago, is now entombed there.

'FLU' SPREAD BY HANDSHAKE

Dirtier the Atmosphere, the More Immune One Is to Disease, Says Colonel Vaughn.

St. Louis, Mo.—There is no indication of an epidemic of influenza this winter, according to speakers at the convention of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States here.

One method of spreading the disease is by handshaking, it was said.

Col. Victor C. Vaughn, in an address, declared the dirtier the atmosphere and the more bacteria one breathed, the more immune he would be to disease. This was proved, he said, by statistics compiled during the war, which showed that the greatest death rate from disease was among men from rural districts.

"The city-reared man," he asserted, "is accustomed to breathing filthy air, while the country-bred man is not, and consequently a foul atmosphere will affect the latter sooner than the former."

Civilization in Korea.

History for many years B. C. tells us that the people of Korea were among the highest in genuine civilization. About the year 1597 a general by the name of Li built the first iron fleet, composed of wooden circular vessels with iron plates on top, studded with iron teeth. Because of the prosperity of the Korean nation, Japan was extremely jealous, and had therefore brought 700 boats in battle array. However, Li, with his 50 boats, succeeded in inflicting a disastrous defeat upon the Japanese.

The First Needle.

Needles were first made in England by a native of India in 1545. The art was lost at his death, but Christopher Greening recovered it in 1560. Mr. Bonner, an ancestor of the earls of Dorchester, settled at Long Crendon, in Bucks, where the manufactory was still extant last century.

Swiss Funeral Customs.

Swiss funeral customs are peculiar. At the death of a person the family inserts an announcement in the papers asking for sympathy. In front of the house is placed a black table on which stands a black jar. Into this the friends of the family drop little black-margined visiting cards. Only men go to the churchyard.

MARY POWELL IS STILL HERE

Berthed at Sunflower Dock—May —Ply Other Waters if Purchaser Appears, Otherwise Will be Junked—Other Notes.

The Newburgh News states that the Mary Powell, which was sold at auction in New York city, as related in The Freeman at the time, was bought by Israel Levinson, representing the Newburgh Iron & Metal Company, and Reuben Cohen, representing the Hudson Valley Waste & Metal Company of Poughkeepsie. The purchase price was stated to be $40,000, but Mr. Levinson stated the figure was much less.

The vessel was sold with two restrictions. It will not be used anywhere on the Hudson river as a passenger or freight steamer, nor will she be sold to any motion picture company to be burned in the making of a cinema spectacle.

E E Olcott of the Hudson River Day Line, in opening the sale last week, said he had recently refused an offer of $100,000 from a motion picture corporation which desired to use the Powell in a gigantic film production.

Mr. Levinson, when asked as to the plans of himself and Mr. Cohen, said that the vessel would be kept intact for a month or so during which time an effort would be made to sell her to a company operating on any river in the country but the Hudson. The Powell was sold with her engines in fine condition and she is in condition to sail the river. Should no buyer appear, Messrs. Levinson and Cohen will junk her either in Kingston or Newburgh.

The old Queen of the Hudson is still berthed at the Sunflower Dock in the Rondout creek.

Towing on the Hudson river still continues brisk, and there will be no let up until the river is closed to navigation. Very heavy tows are still going down the river, and there are enough boats in the state canal to keep tows busy for another week.

The Central Hudson line still has three boats in commission, the Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Trempel, and they will continue running until the river closes.

SIDEWALK COMMITTEE.

Watches Closely Work on Ulster Co. National Bank.

The scaffolding on the Wall and John street sides of the reconstructed Ulster County National Bank has been removed and the grand committee of observation who have, for the past two months, watched from day to day the progress of the work of reconstruction expressing their likes and dislikes as to the style of architecture, have been relieved from duty. The consensus of opinion is that the John street side is to their satisfaction but as there is some ornamentation yet to be done to the entrance front on Wall street it will be necessary to wait until that work is completed to ascertain what the verdict of the aforesaid grand committee will be. The construction of the banking institution however, will be carried out according to the plans of the architect and to the satisfaction of the directors of the bank, even should the verdict of the sidewalk committee be opposed.

McNally's Condition Unchanged.

The condition of William McNally, the boy who was caught in the elevator shaft at the Jacobson shirt factory Saturday morning, remains the same it was stated at the Benedictine Sanitarium this afternoon. He was seriously injured.

BRIDGE WORK IS PROGRESSING

Booth & Flynn, the New York contracting firm, have a crew of eighteen men at work drilling for the anchorage shafts of the proposed Sleightsburgh bridge, and are at work drilling the two shaft holes on the Esopus side of the creek. The work calls for drilling a hole down into the ground a distance of about eighty feet. The holes are about six feet wide, and they are down about twenty-five feet.

The contract calls for four shaft holes, two on each side of the creek. These shaft holes are where the ends of the cable are to be anchored in solid rock. The bridge itself will consist of a single span 728 feet in length, and will be one of the largest suspension bridges in New York state.

Present plans call for the utilizing of the solid concrete bridge pier that was built on the Esopus side of the creek. This concrete pier will form the base for the south tower of the bridge.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Mrs William Bedg died Saturday evening at her home in Morristown, Pa. She was the mother of Mrs P J White of No. 128 Broadway, who was called to her mother's bedside two weeks ago by Mrs Bodg's sudden illness.

The funeral of the late Anna Lewis, who died suddenly in Saugerties on Saturday morning, was held in St Mary's Church this morning. Rev Joseph G. Cushman officiated. Interment was in the family plot in Mountain View Cemetery.

The funeral of William B. Rose will be held this evening and will be private. Friends desiring to view the remains may do this evening between 7 and 9 o'clock at the residence, 15 Lucas avenue. Interment in the Old Hurley Cemetery.

William Connor died suddenly Sunday morning at 11 30 o'clock at his home in High Falls. For the past seven or eight years he had conducted a confectionery and news store at High Falls, and previous to that time was captain on river boats. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mary C. Herring and two sons, William and Joseph. Mr Connor was Fourth Degree member of the Knights of Columbus and also a member of C M B A of Branch No 133, Kingston. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The funeral of Ashley W Cooper, assistant clerk of the Ulster county board of elections, was held at the funeral chapel of A Carr Sons, 1 Pearl street, at 11 o'clock, Monday morning, and was largely attended. Many members of the Ulster County Bar Association were present. The Rev T. H. Baragwanath, pastor of the St James M. E. Church, officiated. There were a number of floral tributes from friends, one large piece being from the clerks employed at the office of the election board compiling the list of enrolled voters. The interment was in Wiltwyck cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Julia E. Boyden was held from the home of Harry Bushnell, 7 Clinton avenue, this afternoon at 1 o'clock. She is survived by three sons, William Romeyn of Spokane, Washington; James Sutherland of Berkley, California; and Cortland Van Buren of Elmhurst, L. I. She also leaves five grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and a large number of friends who deeply mourn her loss. Mrs. Boyden was the daughter of the late Rector Stevenson Van Buren of New York and the late Jane Romeyn, who was a sister of the late William H Romeyn, Sr., for many years editor and publisher of the Kingston Journal. Her great grandfather was Rev. Dr. Hermanus Meier pastor of the First Dutch Church, November, 1663-1772, and she was a granddaughter of Jeremiah Romeyn, preacher at Livingston Manor, during the life of Robert Livingston. Her love of the Bible and great knowledge of the Book may be traced to her mother's influence and clerical ancestry.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 24.—After an irregular opening, the stock market developed strength, advances ranging from fractions to over five points. Steel Common yielded to 104⅝ but quickly rallied at 105¼. Crucible rose 3⅛ to 215½; Baldwin 1⅛ to 107½ and Republic Steel ¾ to 107. General Motors led the motor group with an upturn of 5¼ points to 335½. Pierce Arrow, after selling off ¼ to 74¼ rallied to 76⅝, while fractional upturns were made in Studebaker and White Motors. Dealings in the other issues were on a small scale. Fractional upturns were made in the oil issues. Mexican Petroleum was unchanged at 204; Royal Dutch was ½ higher at 102 and Sinclair Oil ⅝ higher at 50¾. The copper and railway issues were quiet and fractionally higher.

Trading was quiet during the forenoon and many stocks were extremely strong. General Motors rose over 7 points to 338; Pierce Arrow over 5 points to 81½ and Studebaker to 118. The steel issues were also strong, Steel Common advancing to 105½; Baldwin to 108½ and Republic Steel to 107¾. The sugar stocks were active, American Sugar advancing 2½ to 141¼ and Cuba Cane Sugar ½ to 48¼.

The market was strong during the afternoon with trading very dull. A strong tone developed in the late afternoon. Baldwin Locomotive advanced 5 points to 111⅜, and American Locomotive 2 points to 97½. Worthington Pump jumped over 9 points to 92½. The oil and copper stocks made fractional gains.

The market closed irregular; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

C. OF C. INVITED TO ALBANY

The Albany Chamber of Commerce through Roy Smith its Executive Manager has invited the members of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce to come to Albany on Tuesday evening and hear Congressman Dan Reed speak at the meeting of the Members Council of the Albany Chamber.

This meeting will be held in the ball room of the Ten Eyck Hotel.

Roy Smith said, "There is going to be lots of good music, good fun and it is unnecessary for me to elaborate on Dan Reed's wonderful message."

All who hard Dan Reed when he was the guest of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce in June will agree with Roy Smith and all who did not will surely want to take advantage of this opportunity of partially making up for what they missed in June.

Brother to the Mosquito

The prolonged drought has produced a prolific host of insects, and certain species of gnats are developing a disquieting interest in ankles says London Daily Mail. Some women are wearing linen bandages as a protection.

An official at the Natural History Society, South Kensington, states that a chief offender is a tiny insect bearing the long name of Ochlerotatus dorsalis. It breeds in estuaries and spits inland. It is to be found all round London, especially on the Surrey downs.

And our bloodthirsty guest is the reference which is labeled at the museum as "particularly troublesome in the evening. Its bite is severe, and with many people causes bad sores."

Spanish Birth Rate.

Now it is in Spain that they are beginning to worry about the rising birth rate and the falling death rate, says the Weekly Dispatch. In 37 cities Medina (Barcelona) statistics for several years, showing that in 1912 the death rate was 23.6 per 1,000 population, and that in 1917, before the advent of the pandemic of influenza, it had risen to 26.16. And the birth rate fell from 31.60 per thousand in 1912 to 29.2 in 1917.

Official figures for 1918 are not yet available, but in the city of Madrid the death rate rose in that year to 30.37 while the birth rate fell to 26.50. The figures for 1918, however, are abnormal because of the influenza.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The Sewing Circle of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will meet Tuesday afternoon at the church at 2 o'clock.

All members of Camp 30, P. O. A., are requested to be present this evening at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street.

A food and cake sale will be held at Van Wagenen's store on Wall street, Wednesday, November 26, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. The sale will be held under the auspices of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Undoubtedly, we believe that spiritual virtues should concern us more early than material ones, but equally so we believe that if a thing be done, it had best be well done, except it be a canvas back duck; and no housewife ever lost her title to future bliss through the keeping of a good table while she was on earth.—Owen Wister.

A WILDERNESS OF SWEETS.

Tortes are the cakes par excellence. They are rich in nuts, eggs, and crumbs, and when carefully made and baked are especially toothsome.

Walnut Torte.—Beat the yolks of six eggs with one cupful of sugar, add one-fourth of a pound of ground walnut meats and six grated lady fingers, two tablespoonfuls of flour sifted with one teaspoonful of baking powder. Add the juice and rind of half a lemon, cut and fold in the stiffly beaten whites and bake in layers in a moderate oven.

Filling.—Beat one egg yolk, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, three-fourths of a cupful of milk, cook, stirring until the mixture coats the spoon; add three-fourths of a pound of chopped walnuts with a teaspoonful of vanilla for flavoring; put between the layers and on top.

Date Torte.—Rub 16 sliced dates to a smooth paste with two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Beat two whole eggs and seven yolks, add one and three-fourths cupfuls of sugar, beat well, add the dates, three tablespoonfuls of chocolate, and one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and allspice, and a cupful of cracker crumbs; stir well and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of seven eggs. Bake in a large springerlie form.

Angel Food.—Beat one cupful of egg whites until stiff, adding a quarter of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Sift one cupful of sifted flour with one-quarter of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, add one cupful of sugar lightly to the beaten whites, a pinch of salt and a teaspoonful of flavoring, then fold in the flour. Bake in a tube pan 50 to 60 minutes in a moderate oven.

A layer cake (unless a torte) needs a quicker oven than a loaf cake. When putting a cake in the pan, especially a loaf cake, always leave a depression in the center, as it will rise first there, and make a hump; this method results in a flat, even shaped loaf.

Birds, Insects, and Weeds Foretell Downpour to Those Who Are at All Observant.

The shepherd among his sheep or the laborer on the farm will not hesitate in his reply to the often asked question, for these men of the fields are almost uncannily weather wise. Their barometer is not only the moon the clouds, the stars, but also the beasts, birds, insects and weeds.

The following signs, among others warn the countryman of the coming rain or storms: "M. P. M." writes in the continental edition of the London Mail:

A flight of swallows skimming low.

The continued sound of croaking frogs from the ditches.

The silence of singing birds in the woods.

The pimpernel on the banks with its scarlet blossoms closed against the onslaught of the storm.

The extra brilliance of the stars (on the eve of rain).

The haze around the moon.

Spiders seeking refuge within the cottage or the barn.

The unusually distinct roar of the train heard from afar.

Grease Taboo.

It is difficult to keep Arabian troops supplied with effective firearms, as they have a religious objection to using grease even for cleaning rifles.

POET WAS ERRATIC GENIUS

Thomas Chatterton Did Marvelous Work Before His Suicide at the Age of Eighteen.

That marvelous boy poet, Thomas Chatterton, a youth with wonderful attainments but whose genius was erratic, died before he was 18 years old, on Aug. 25, 1770, by taking arsenic "in anticipation of a slower death by starvation."

From his earliest childhood, Chatterton had a ghastly familiarity with the idea of suicide, and among his papers preserved in the British museum is a last will and testament. "Executed in the presence of Omniscience, the 14th of April, 1770," full of the wildest wit and profanity. While there is a peculiar interest to all he wrote, he is best remembered as the author of the so called "Rowley Poems," which number nearly four-score, "Kilnour and Juga" being the only one which appeared during the lifetime. Some of them possess that beauty of imagination with which we associate the work of Keats and Coleridge. These poets, as well as Rossetti and William Morris, owed much to Chatterton.

During the last few months of his life he worked with a hundred hands and poured forth satiric poems, political essays burlettes, letters in the style of Junius, and mediated writing a history of England. For a time his prospects seemed to brighten, and while many editors were willing to used his articles and gave him praise, few were willing to pay for them.

Making Sure.

A hostler was sent to the stable to bring out a traveler's horse. Not knowing which of the two horses in the stable belonged to the traveler, he saddled both animals and brought them to the door. The traveler pointed out his own horse, saying, "That's my nag." "Certainly, your honor, I know that very well, but I didn't know which was the other gentleman's?"

SOCIETY NOTES.

Among the many Kingstonians who visited West Point last Thursday to see the Prince of Wales especially were Miss Mary LeFevre, Miss Florence Tappen, Miss Emily Hoysradt, Miss Helen Stephan and Miss Louise Van Hoevenberg. While the young ladies all reported a delightful time and were so favorably impressed with the heir apparent to the British throne as are all Americans who have seen him at close quarters, one young lady especially noted the keenness, kindly and curious with which he looked at those about him, as though wishing to really know the people who were in a large sense his hosts and hostesses.

A variety shower was given in honor of Miss Sadie Schultz of St. Remy at the home of Mrs. James Rowe on Elmendorf street. Friday evening. Miss Schultz, who is soon to be married to Charles Schwab, of Stamford, Conn., was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. The house was prettily decorated with Thanksgiving decorations, the color scheme being orange and white. During the evening dainty refreshments were served. The guests were the Misses Sarah Matthews, Lulu Snyder, Henrietta, Louise and Mildred Schwab, Mrs. Harold Sharot, Mrs. Jay Rifenbary, Mrs. M. Kirchner, Mrs. George Rowe, Mrs. Joseph Schwab and Mrs. Lucinda Krum.

Federation Executive Meeting.

The executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs will meet Tuesday afternoon at promptly 2:30 o'clock in the Kingston city library building. It is asked that all members be prompt in their attendance in order that the meeting may close in time for members of the Lowell Club to attend their club meeting.

Bennett-Fingar.

Mrs. Emma Schlude Fingar of 20 Cannon street, Poughkeepsie, became the bride today, of Harold Winchell Bennett, formerly of Saugerties, now of Poughkeepsie. The ceremony was quietly performed Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the parsonage of the First Baptist Church by the Rev. Franklin D. Elmer in that city. Relatives of the couple were present. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will leave tomorrow on a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside at 176 Mansion Square, Poughkeepsie.

Thanksgiring Night Dance.

This week comes that day when the whole family joins around the family dinner table to enjoy the good things and the spirit of thanksgiving permeates each and every one. This year the American people should be especially thankful that they are living in God's country. The conditions abroad are very bad, and good old United States is the place to live in at present. Every one wishes to celebrate in some way this time of year and this can be done in no better way than taking your friends to E. J. McEnelly's dance which is to be held at the state armory, Kingston, Thursday, November 27, under auspices of Company, First Infantry, N. Y. G.

Surprise Party.

A surprise party was tendered David Harris at his home, 113 Foxhall avenue, on Friday evening. Piano and victrola selections were rendered. Games were played and at 11 o'clock a buffet lunch was served. Those present were: The Misses Lydia Heppner, Gretchen Alward, Louise Topp, Dorothy Petri, Lydia Hahn, Carrie Wiedemann, Carrie Heppner, Edna Gardiner, Emma Ziedler, Marie Bishop Ella Ahrens and the Messrs. David Harris, Warrington Smith, Alfred Laine, Milfred Wendland, Jack Short, Raymond Alward, Andrew Short, Raymond Luedtke, Wilson Lester, Ernest Boss, Harry Heiser, Ervin Alward and Clifford Harris. The guests departed in the wee small hours of the morning, all having spent a most enjoyable evening and voting their host a royal entertainer.

The Coterie.

On Saturday, the Coterie met with Miss Hale, and considered the topic of "Modern Art." Mrs. Terry had the first paper for the afternoon, "Water Color, Pastel and Miniature," and was followed by Mrs. Kingman whose subject was "American Mural Painting, Edwin Abbey." The final paper for the afternoon, had such an extensive title, "Contemporary Artists of Other Lands," that Mrs. Patchen who presented it confined herself almost exclusively to the French and English artists. All of the papers were more than ordinarily full of interest and information entertainingly presented. Because of the length of the program, Mrs. Thompson was able to give but a brief report of the State Federation meeting recently held at Elmira, but all were much interested in what she did have time to tell. The next meeting of The Coterie will be with Mrs. Terry.

Hillis-Tongue.

A beautiful home wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Tongue on President's Place on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Miss Edith G. Tongue became the bride of Edward James Hillis in the presence of the families and a few close friends of the bride and groom. The bride, who was exquisitely gowned in white crepe meteor over white satin, lace trimmed, and who wore a bridal veil and carried bride roses, was given away by her father. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Tongue, who was charming in a pink crepe de chine gown and carried pink roses. Arthur D. Hillis was his brother's best man. Palms and pink and white chrysanthemums formed the background to the bridal party, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. P. C. Werant, pastor of the Trinity M. E. Church, the ring ceremony being used. The pink and white chrysanthemums adorned the home throughout. The wedding march was played by Miss Ethel Mauterstock, who during the ceremony played "O, Promise Me" and afterward the wedding march. Following the ceremony an elaborate collation was served, the girl friends of the bride assisting in serving the guests. There was a profusion of beautiful, costly and useful gifts, including several checks of considerable size. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Hillis left on their southern wedding tour and on their return they will make their home in Kingston. Both the bride, a former graduate of Ulster Academy, and the groom, who is connected with the Hauck Food Products Company, have a large circle of friends in this city who wish them many years of happiest married life.

St. John's Notes.

The usual Tuesday afternoon Bible lecture by the rector of the church, the Rev. Dr. Leighton Williams, D. D., in the parish house will be omitted this week.

On Thanksgiving Day the Holy Communion will be celebrated at the church at 8 o'clock in the morning, thus allowing the members of the congregation to participate in the Community Thanksgiving services to be held at the High School Auditorium on Thanksgiving morning at 10:30 o'clock.

On Wednesday evening of this week at 7:30 o'clock, the children of the Sunday school will hold a social in the parish house to which their parents and friends as well as the people of the parish are cordially invited to be present.

SHE OF RED HAIR

Colors One With Titian Tresses Should Wear.

Different Color Pigment in Skin Than Blonde or Blackhaired Woman With Fair Skin.

No type of beauty can be more strikingly lovely than the red-haired woman, writes a famous creator of fashions. If the possessor of red hair understands how to dress to type she may make herself as vividly decorative as a mural painting.

"That stunning Miss So-and-So with the wonderful red hair" we hear so often, but alas, we also hear "There's poor Mary, such a sweet girl, but that awful red hair! If she only knew what to wear it might help, but what can you do with a girl like that?"

A red-haired woman should realize first of all that there is a different color pigment in her skin than that of the blonde or of the black-haired woman with fair skin.

The delicate shades that tone with the pink and white loveliness of the blonde are not so good when featured on the red-haired woman, although her complexion may possess that quality of extreme whiteness which so often accompanies red hair. The auburn, bronze or chestnut-haired type is another story. I am speaking of the woman with vivid red hair, who if she were a boy, would be called "carrot top" or "red head."

The woman with red hair has been sentenced to wear blue for so many years that this color and red hair have become as traditional as the old theory that if you see a red-haired woman a white horse will soon appear.

Blue is the wrong color for the red-haired woman. No this isn't heresy. Blue makes her utterly commonplace. There is one shade of green-blue that Billie Burke, who is one of the loveliest of red-haired creatures, wears with supreme effect, but this shade is green first and blue afterwards—green blue—and even she wears it with great discretion.

Brown is another obvious color for the red-haired woman. If, however, brown is well done the sympathetic background of this color is good, but brown may also become very commonplace with red hair.

Black is an excellent foil for the woman with red hair. Clothed in black and the right lines she becomes distinguished looking as well as beautiful.

Given a good skin and dark enough lashes and brows, almost any red-haired woman should be able to make herself strikingly attractive.

There is a gray for everyone. Particularly for the possessor of red hair. Gray is color neutralized. Red, blue and green make gray. The various tones of gray are produced by the proportions of these three colors. The red-haired woman should wear the gray with lavender or violet predominating.

The red-haired woman should avoid blue, with the possible exception of the two-tones, gray blue and green blue mentioned above. Above all, she should not wear baby blue, turquoise, king's or robin's egg.

Green is an excellent color foil for red hair. Olive green makes an ideal street color, and chartreuse and emerald may be worn with extremely decorative effect in the evening. Bronze makes a better daylight choice than the lighter brown tones. Of the yellow, pale buff is good on the red-haired woman.

ATTIRE FOR MISS OF 1920

This is an advance model of fall-winter wear for milady of fashion. It is of stunning wool duvetyn, brick color, with a flaring peplum on the coat and gorgeous trimming of grosgrain ribbon.

The newest capes are of hopsacking, lined with brilliant colors.

The English Language.

It is estimated that over 140,000,000 people now speak the English language, over 51,000,000 the French, 75,000,000 German, 35,000,000 Italian, 42,000,000 Spanish, 13,000,000 Portuguese and 77,000,000 Russian.

THAT LOST OVERCOAT.

It Still Awaits the Coming of Its Owner at the Y. M. C. A.

The only unpleasant feature about the Friends and Neighbors Dinner at the Y. M. C. A., Thursday evening of last week, was an exchange of overcoats.

One of the coats involved is now at the Y. M. C. A. waiting for its owner to exchange the one taken in its place.

Basketball at St. Peter's.

A basketball game will be played on Friday evening November 28, at St. Peter's Hall between St. Peter's five and the "Kasey" five. The game will start at 8:15 o'clock and will be followed by dancing. Shurter's Jazz orchestra will furnish the syncopation.

COMMUNITY SING TOMORROW NIGHT

There will be no need to urge those who attended the popular Symphony concert on Sunday to attend the Community Sing Tuesday evening at the high school at 7:30 o'clock. In addition to the chorus numbers Tuesday evening, Mrs. Roy Wood, soprano soloist at the Trinity M E Church will sing for the other singers, during the rest period. Here's hoping there will be some five or six hundred singers out Tuesday evening at the high school.

SPORTING CLUB ON THE ROAD

Sauer Hotel Bought by New York Parties—Many Other Real Estate Deals Throughout County.

Many real estate transactions of importance were recorded last week and all branches of the realty market showed activity, says I. Paradies of Railroad avenue.

Augusta Sauer, who for a number of years was owner of the Sauer Hotel on the Saugerties Road, has transferred her property to Varlemann & Richert of New York city. In the near future the hotel will be remodelled and made into a sporting club by the new proprietors, both being experienced in the line, they will spare no expense to make it one of the most important places along the Saugerties road. Mr. Varlemann for the past ten years has been the head steward at the Hotel Biltmore, while Mr. Richert was manager of the Columbia Fishing Club of Staten Island. On account of its road frontage and bordering 900 feet on the water, a new dock will be built and the hotel will be modernly equipped with all of the latest improvements, and the interior decorations will be of an old Dutch style.

William Linker of New Paltz, N. Y., who was the owner of a 90-acre farm and boarding house near Oscar's farm and known as Eyres' villa, has sold it to John Meade and wife of Upland avenue, Yonkers, N. Y., they having already taken possession of the same.

Ernest Teich and wife, Catherine Teich, of 1461 Rosedale avenue, Bronx, N. Y., have purchased Cedar Lawn House, located near Rifton, opposite the Wallkill river, which has been owned by Helen Engelhart of New York city.

Mrs. Lena Schoenbachler, who formerly was the owner of the Yama Farms Inn at Napanoch, N. Y., has purchased a farm and home near Greenkill Park, which she will convert into a future home.

William H. Sibern and wife, Marie Louise, of 9217 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., have purchased from Mrs. Marceline Payne her country residence located near Port Ewen. Mrs. Payne in the near future will occupy her other residence near New Paltz, N. Y., which she purchased through the same agency.

I. Paradies has purchased the well known residence of John Decker, formerly of Sharon, Conn. The same will be remodelled and made into an up-to-date and very modern residence.

He also purchased the property of George LeFever, located in the town of Rosendale, and the property of L. P. Musgrave and wife at Tillson. He is having them all remodelled.

William Kinney and wife of New York city have purchased Maple Villa, the pretty home of Reverend John B. Kaloria and wife, located on the Tillson and New Paltz state road. For a number of years Mr. Kinney has been connected with the editorial department of the New York Herald. After journeying throughout the county, Mr Kinney has selected this property for their future home. Reverend Kaloria, who is a Professor of Languages and able to converse in twenty-seven dialects, will with Mrs. Kaloria move to Pennsylvania. They will be greatly missed in the community where they have endeared themselves to so many friends.

NEW MOTOR TRUCK

Due by Dec. 1—City Department Becoming First Class.

The new motor hook and ladder truck, which was ordered some time ago, by the board of fire commissioners, has been shipped from the factory at Columbus, Ohio, and will arrive in a few days. The truck was shipped on November 19, and it is expected that it will take a week to arrive. According to the contract it is to be delivered on the floor of the engine house by December first. When the new truck arrives it will replace the horse drawn hook and ladder outfit now at Central Fire Station. With the installation of the hook and ladder truck at Central Fire Station the entire fire department will be motorized and with the installation of the two platoon system at this time will give Kingston one of the best equipped and best departments along the river.

Laundry Dries Fruit.

Drying fruits and vegetables is now a laundry by-product. The mechanical driers are thus made use of when not otherwise employed.

HOW TWO PLATOON SYSTEM WORKS

New Firemen's Schedule Secures Maximum Efficiency Yet Allows Men Time At Home.

Sunday at 8 o'clock the two platoon system was put into effect at the various engine houses throughout the city and from now on there will always be two men on duty at the fire stations at all times. Under the old system during the meal hour there was but one man on duty in each engine house. Besides increasing the efficiency of the department 100% during this time the paid men of the department will be on duty but 12 hours of a day while under the old system they worked 16 hours each day on duty. Under the old system the men had every fifth day off and one hour and 20 minutes off for meals each day when on duty. Now the men beside having their 24 hours off at the completion of their third day of duty, will be able to sleep home three nights out of six.

The new schedule which has been placed into effect at first seems complicated but when figured out shows not only that the efficiency of the department is increased but the men will have more time off and will be able to spend a greater part of their time with their families.

Every six days the cycle will be completed and the men will start over again, in other words the men will have completed their day trick and their night trick once each 6 days and start again at the beginning. The first shift will go on at 8 o'clock in the morning of the first day and work from 8 until 6 o'clock with no time off for meals, having their meals sent in to them. At 6 o'clock the night men or second shift will come on duty, remaining until 8 the next morning. This will continue for two days and on the third day the first shift, or the day men will have 24 hours continuous off while the second shift or the night men will be on duty for 24 hours with no time off for meals. The first shift returning from their 24 hours off will go on duty at night while the men who have been on duty at night will work days for two days and then will get their 24 hours off, the other shift working 24 hours continuous. This will complete the cycle and the men will start over again.

The schedule of each man will be 12 hours of day work for 2 days with time off from 6 p. m. until 8 a. m.; then 24 hours off duty, returning to do his trick of two nights on duty and the sixth day he will work 24 hours steady. The seventh day he will begin all over again. This will give every man on the department 24 hours off out of every six days and two other nights out of the six days he can spend with his family.

Chief Chipp and the board of fire commissioners spent considerable time in working out the schedule so that each man would be given as much time off as possible, at the same time giving the maximum efficiency to the department.

Poise Worth Cultivating.

Cultivate repose of manner, calmness, quietness, emotional control, if you want to grow in personal influence over your fellow men. Poise by no means constitutes the whole secret of personality. But it is an important element in it. If a choice has to be made between two leaders, one well poised, the other excitable, there can be no question as to which will be chosen. Always poise, with its unconscious revelation of well controlled energy, will carry the day.

PRIZE WINNERS

At Mechanics Fair Which Closed Saturday Night.

The Mechanics fair was brought to a successful finish on Saturday night with the announcement of the winners of the various contests.

Miss Helen Foland stood second and was awarded the handsome wrist watch.

Miss Rose Martha came out in third place in the contest and consequently won a beautiful lavalliere.

Harold Schirick carried off first honors in the boys' contest and won the bicycle put up as first prize.

The door prize of $25 in gold was awarded to Miss Kearney of 27 Newkirk avenue.

The Humble Part.

In imperishable characters there will be inscribed on the success roll of honor names unfamiliar to most of us, the names of those who performed nobly humble parts in life; the unknown workers for humanity, the heroic sufferers—some blind, some crippled or handicapped by the loss of hands or feet, or tortured by incurable diseases—who with a fortitude equal to that of the martyrs of old, took up life's burdens and bravely made the most of the powers and opportunities bestowed upon them by the Almighty. —From "Ambition and Success" by Orison Swett Marden.

Score One for Employer.

A Kansas City man received four very nice presents on his birthday early this week, a silk shirt, a pair of gloves, and a pair of silk hose. The shirt, given him by his wife, was size 15½—he wears 15½; the gloves, selected by his mother, were size 6—he wears 7½; the socks, from his brother, were size 12—he wears 10. His employer, however, who has known him more intimately for several years, sent out a box of soft collars which fit him exactly—Kansas City Star.

In Fact, Generally.

A scientist says that cholera germs look like a comma. Possibly, but when they get into a man's system they are apt to put the final period to his existence.
